(2) ff. 172a-175b. Hebrew and Judeo-Arabic. Ahavot Yom Sabbat, at the end of the volume, is the poem on the Sabbath, entitled Ahavat Yom Sabbat, written by Yahya ha-Levi Naggar (lived 18th cent.?). The title is given on ff. 172a and 172b. The author's name is concealed in an acrostic (inverted according to the at-bas system) in the initial letters of each strophe. The poem has been edited, translated and commented upon by Pinkas Heinrich, Fragment eines Gebetbuches aus Yemen. Ein Beitrag zur Geschichte der judischen and judisch-arabischen Synagogalpoesie und zur Kenntnis des arabischen Vulgkrdialects in Yemen (Vienna 1902), pp. 36-49. A short reference to the author, and the same poem, is given by M. Steinschneider, Die arabische Literatur der Juden (Frankfurt am Main 1902), para 215, p. 263. Heinrich's identification (op. cit., p. 36) of the author as the son of the Yemenite mystic and author of synagogal poetry, Šalūm al-Šabzī is doubtful, based as it is on the wrongly supposed similarity of the names Sālim and Šalūm. The strophes of the poem are alternately in Hebrew and Judeo-Arabic.

Or. 14.428
Arabic, paper, different scripts and copyists.
A collection of fragments of 24 documents of juridical content and fragments of court minutes. Most, if not all, documents appear to be of Egyptian origin. Their dates range between 1030/1621 and 1109/1698, and some are undated, but probably from the 11th/17th century as well. The documents were found by the former owner, Dr. Qasim al-Samarra'i, in the binding of one of his manuscripts. This fact accounts for the somewhat fragmentary appearance of the documents, as they were folded and cut to the size of the MS. Chronological order of the documents:

1030/1621	M	after 1103/1691	W
1038/1628-9	Y	1104/1693	L
before 1061/1651	X	1105/1694	A
1065/1654	G	1106/1694	U
1094/1683	K	in or after 1106/1695	B
1100/1688	S	1108/1696	I
1100/1689	D	1109/1698	T
1102/1691	C

The documents E, F, H, N, 0, P, Q, R and V could not be dated. The same persons appear to be mentioned in documents A and B. The same place of origin is given in documents F, G and R. The same social group is mentioned in documents P, T, U and W. It is possible that the fragments I and W originate from one and the same document.
The collection contains:
A. Legal decree by a Hanafi judge, annulling the sale of a white slave-girl because it was proven that she was actually a freewoman. On the basis of a statement (shahada) given by al-hagg Muhammad b. `Abdallah, al-hagg Mustafa al ... (?) Efendi and al-hagg Mustafa b. Sulayman, concerning M. b. Mahmud al-Dili(?) and al-Zayni Mustafa b. Musa Efendi from the wilaya Gazal Hisar (with which possibly is meant Guzel Hisar (now Aydin) in western Anatolia), it was established (thabata) that M. [b. Mahmud] had purchased from al-Zayni Mustafa a white slave-girl, named ...(?) Bayad, for a price known between the parties. After a while he sold the girl to a third party, but then it became clear that she was actually a freewoman from the wilaya Serserli (? Sersi in eastern Anatolia). Once her status of a freewoman was established before the judge, the second seller was awarded the right of restitution (rugu`) from the first seller, and the first seller was awarded the right of restitution from the person who sold the girl to him. The judge's consideration is given as: li-kawniha annaha hurra fa-in al-hurr la yuba`u fi milla min al-milal.

The statement was given on 10 Ragab 1105/1694.
One leaf of paper; watermark: three crescents; 200 x 150mm; 15 lines of text, on one side only; text is incomplete at the beginning; naskh script; black ink.
B. Deed of sale of real estate, conducted before the Maliki judge in Cairo. It establishes a purchase by al-Zayni Mustafa b. Sulayman from ... (?) b. Abdallah, who acted as attorney for his wife, Fatima Khatun, daughter of the deceased Busuq Aga. Names of witnesses are mentioned. The sale concerns an open space (khalw) and a dwelling (sukna), together with the usufruct (intifa`), in the neighbourhood of Bab al-Sha`riyya in Cairo (see on this gate, which existed till c. 1884, K. A. C. Creswell, The Muslim Architecture of Egypt (Oxford 1952-59, 2 vols.), vol. 2, pp. 54-5. It is still a neighbourhood in Cairo). The legal title of the seller is confirmed by a document issued by the same court on 28 Sawwal 1106/1695. Then follows a description of the house. The document is incomplete at the end.
One leaf of paper; 150 x 160 mm; 16 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
C. Fragment of a document of transfer, conducted before a judge between two persons. Only the final part of the document is preserved, in which the transfer, statement of receipt and confirmation are mentioned. The document is dated 10 Ragab 1102/1691.
One leaf of paper; watermark: three crescents; 155 x 150 mm; 12 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
D. Fragment of a document in which a bridal dower is fixed. The document is incomplete on the left side. The names of the husband, the brother of the bride (acting as her wakil) and witnesses to the amounts, to be paid partly in cash, partly in kind, are given. Dated 22 6umada I 1100/1689. One leaf of paper; 150 x 95 mm; 13 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
E. Letter from Shahin Gharban (or `Uzban?) to a certain Muhammad, in which intervention with the authorities is requested, as the person wanted travelled with the amir al-hagg three months ago. One of the parties involved, it is said, stayed for 53 days in town. The language shows features of Middle Arabic.
One leaf of paper, consisting of several fragments; 210x 160 mm; 18 lines of text, on one side only; the end of the letter is written in the margin, upside-down as usual; naskh script; brownblack ink.
F. Legal decree, issued by the Hanafi judge in Gami` al-Zayni, Bulaq, Cairo, by which permission is given to al-Shamsi Muhammad b. Ali, known as Ibn al-Kikiyya (?) of Bulaq, to take care of a child of an estimated age of three months whose mother has died, with the consent of the father, Ragab b. Shahhadh, also from Bulaq. At the end of the docu-ment the employment of a wet-nurse (murdi`a) is stipulated, and then rules are given for the period of weaning (fitam) and the maintenance. The document would appear to be incomplete at the end. The final two and a half lines are written in a different hand. On the verso side are drafts of court minutes, for which the original document was apparently used as scrap paper. A few of these drafts are also on the recto side, written above the text of the document and in the margin. One draft has a partly legible date: 15 Safar 11.. (?).

One leaf of paper; 200 x 150 mm; 13 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
G. Legal decree, issued by the Hanafi judge in Gami` al-Zayni (?), Bulaq, Cairo, by which a financial dispute between the woman ... (?) bint Amir al-Hariri al-Ghaytani and her husband al-hagg `Abd al-Rahman b. al-hagg Muhammad al-Gaytani al-Hariri (?) is settled. Incomplete at the end. On the verso side are drafts of court minutes, as on the preceding document. One of these (left column) would appear to be dated 7 Safar 1065/1654 or 1165/1751. One leaf of paper; 205 x 145 mm; 17 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
H. Two fragments of paper, probably not connected with each other.
The smaller fragment contains the head of a document, without further details. It measures some 40 x 150 mm, and contains three lines of text on one side only. The larger fragment is part of a legal decree by a Hanafi judge about the settlement of a debt. Beginning and end are missing. Names of parties are al-hagg `Abd al-Rahman b. al-shaykh Yusuf al-Halwani and al-shaykh Salih b. Ga`far al-shahir bi-al-Simsar. One fragment of paper; c. 105 x 150 mm; 12 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
I. Two fragments, which fit together. They form the lower part of a document, probably concerning the income of a waqf. At the end reference is made to both the Hanbali and Maliki judge. Dated 12 Muharram 1108/1696. These fragments may originate from the same document as fragment W, see below.
In juxtaposition the two fragments measure 115 x 200 mm; 15 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
K. Fragment of a legal decree issued by a qadi in Cairo, with reference to a letter from the shaykh masa'ikh al-islam. In the document certain conditions of a waqf are annulled. The name of a party is mentioned: the deceased shaykh Muhammad b. `Ali b. Amir al-`Iyani. The name of another party would seem to read: al-Bahiri Muhammad, whose children and further offspring are mentioned as well. The document is incomplete at the beginning and at the end. Dated 12 Gumada 1 1094/[1]1683. One leaf of paper; 155 x 110mm; 20 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
L. Fragment of a deed of sale, the beginning of which is missing. Made before a judge. The price is mentioned as 5500 nisf fidda. The two witnesses are mentioned: Ahmad shaykh ta'ifat al-qahwagiyya and Muhammad b. Haykal al-Qahwagi. Dated 16 Sawwal 1104/1693.
One leaf of paper, made up of three separate fragments, measuring together 195 x 155 mm; 19 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
M. Two fragments of a decree, issued by a judge, to the effect that a certain woman should be released from the prison where she had been staying for five months because she failed to pay her debt to another woman. The release was effectuated because of the woman’s insolvency. Names of witnesses are given: al-Shamsi Muhammad b. Muhammad al-...(?), and Sha`ban b. Ahmad. Dated 4 Rabi` I 1030/1621. Incomplete at the beginning, and consisting of two fragments, which do not exactly fit together.
One leaf of paper; 150 x 145 mm; 20 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.

N. Fragment of a petition by a certain Hasan, who requests from the Hanbali judge to authorize his Hanbali deputy in Bulaq to lease him a small plot of land, of which the dimensions are specified, for which the petitioner is prepared to pay a higher rent than is indicated in the waqf register. Incomplete at the beginning.
One leaf of paper; 100 x 135 mm; 7 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
O. Fragments of a divorce document, made before a Hanafi judge, at the request of the wife, named Fatima, who renounced thereby her right to the part of the dowry which had not yet been paid. The name of the husband would seem to read: Qandiil b. Muhammad.
Some six fragments, constituting together about 80 % of the document; 185 x 155 mm; 17 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
P. Beginning only of a dead of purchase of a property, made before the judge at al-Bab al-`Ali of Old Cairo (Misr), by a woman named Rahma, daughter of the deceased Safar, who was known as al-dawidar. The seller's name would seem to read: al-amir `Ali ... (?), and he is connected with the `uzban of the Qal`at Misr. The same buyer occurs in document T, below, which is dated 1109/1698. See also U, below.
One leaf of paper, consisting of two fragments which fit together; watermark: three crescents; 230 x 150 mm; 6 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
Q. Fragment of a deed of sale concerning an entire boat (markab) and the half of a faluka (sloop), both provided with full equipment and ready for use, for the price of 4000 nisf fidda. After payment of the sum, the goods were delivered. The document was made before a judge. One leaf of paper; 110 x 145 mm; 13 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
R. Beginning only of a legal decree, issued by the judge in Gami` al-Zayni, Bulaq, Cairo, containing the claim of a woman, named Amina (or Amina), daughter of Hasan al-Hammal, against her husband, named Shahin b. Zaydan al-Hammal in Bulaq, of an amount of money, great 78 ansaf `adadiyya in fidda. The marriage contract stipulates the payment by the husband of six ansaf per month for clothing, and these payments have not been made during 13 months, hence the claim of 78 ansaf. The husband acknowledged the claim, paid 60 ansaf in court and still owed her the remaining 18 nisf fidda.
The verso side of the document, and part of the recto side as well, has been used for notes, all of financial nature, possibly drafts of court minutes of cases similar to the one contained in the original document.
One leaf of paper; 110 x 150 mm; 9 lines of text on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
S. Legal document, issued by al-Bab al-`Ali in Cairo, in which the discharge of responsibilities is confirmed for a certain al-Zayni Husayn b. Mimi, of the ta'ifat al-mustahfazan of Misr, for his activities in the years 1097, 1098 and 1099 AH in the waqf of the deceased al-amir Sulayman al-Karbutli, which is in the trust of his former slave-woman Rahma Khatun bt. `Abdallah al-Bayda'. The latter is represented at the court by her husband al-hagg Yusuf b. `Abdallah, of the ta'ifat al-mustahfazdn in Qal`at Misr. Witnesses are mentioned: al-shaykh al-`umda al-amgad Shams al-Din M. al-Danawshari al-Hanbali and al-amir Yusuf b. `Abdallah, gawis at the Diwan Misr. Dated 12 Rabi` 1 1100/1688. In the margin additional notes.

Original document on one leaf of paper, here consisting of two fragments which do not entirely fit together. Probably not more than one or two lines of text are missing; 200 x 150 mm and 65 x 150 mm; together 24 lines for the document and 21 lines for the additional notes in the margin; text on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
T. Deed of sale of a piece of property, measuring 12 qarat, being half of an original plot of 24 qirat in Bulaq, Cairo. Buyer is Rahma, daughter of Safar, who is known as al-Dawadar. The price is 5000 nisJ fidda. Vendor is al-amir Ahmad katkhuda ta'ifat `uzban wa-amin al-bahrayn in Misr. At the end follow the names and professions of some nine or ten witnesses. Dated 27 Ragab 1109/1698. The deed is confirmed before the judge of al-Bab al-`Ali in Old Cairo (Misr). The name of the buyer occurs also in document P, above. See also U, below. The original document consisted of one leaf of paper, but here only four fragments, which do not altogether fit together, are available. Part of the beginning of the document is lost. Original measurements most have been c. 275 x 150 mm; 32 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
U. Legal decree, made before the Hanafi judge in Gami` al-Zayni, Bulaq, Cairo, stipulating the distribution of the income of the waqf of Masih Basha, with an enumeration of the persons who are entitled to this. One of the parties appearing before the judge is a certain `Umar al-Zahiri, of whom is said that he is one of the notables of the ta'ifat `uzban Qal`at Misr. The document therefore originates from the same environment as documents P and T, above. Dated 15 Safar 1106/1694.
The original document consisted of one leaf of paper, of which now two fragments are preserved, which do not entirely fit together. Not more than one or two lines seem to be lacking, however; 90 x 155 mm and 205 x 155 mm; 37 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
V. Beginning part only of a legal decree, issued by Khalil Efendi, supreme judge in Cairo, at the request of Nur al-Din `Ali b. Muhammad, one of the descendants of the famous Egyptian sufi Ahmad Abu al-`Abbas al-Ghamri (d. 905/1499, cf. GAL S II,173), in which provisions are made for the caretaking of his mosque. Some lines have been crossed out, and there is a marginal addition written in a different hand. This could indicate that the present document was a draft only. Two fragments of paper, fitting each other and measuring together 150 x 310 mm; 19 lines of text, on one side only; naskh script; black ink.
W. The beginning only of a legal decree (hugga), issued by Ahmad Efendi, the Hanafi judge in Gami` al-Zayni, Bulaq, Cairo, and the Maliki judge (whose name remains unmentioned), in which it is confirmed that al-hagg Muhammad (known as Hamuda) b. Abdallah has purchased a certain property. Only seven lines of the beginning of the document are preserved. This fragment may originate from the same document as the fragments registered under I, see above. The verso side of the fragment has been used for the draft of a legal decree, to be issued by the Hanafi judge of Bulaq, in which declarations of witnesses concerning a certain property are confirmed. Reference is made to a decree, issued by the same court, dated Safar 1103/1691 (line 3), but the draft is not dated, and ends with tahrfran fi. One leaf of paper; 205 x 210 mm; recto side 7 lines; verso side 21 lines; texts written by different scribes; naskh script; black ink.

X. Final part only of a deed of sale of commodities (wheat from the Sa`id is mentioned), with mention of the price and a confirmation of payment and delivery. Of the original document only 6½ lines are available, together with additions in the margin (9 lines) and underneath (7 lines), both in a different hand. The verso side of the paper has been used for court minutes. One is dated Monday 29 Safar 1061/1651. Similar minutes are also written on the open space on the recto side. Here the date 28 Muharram 1069/1658 is visible. The minutes are in several hands. Together with this leaf seven smaller fragments of different sizes, containing similar court minutes, are preserved. They do not belong to the larger fragment. Of two of these smaller fragments it is clear that they originally contained a legal document on the recto side, and that the verso side was used later on for the court minutes.
The larger fragment measures 205 x 150 mm; naskh script by different scribes; black ink.
Y. Six fragments from a book of court minutes. Contrary to the previously described fragments, where the court minutes were jotted down on used paper, the present fragments appear to originate from a special register for court minutes. Through several of the minutes the word yuhkam, 'sentence may be passed', is written. The present leaves are arranged more or less in a chronological order. The earliest entry is dated Tuesday 19 Safar 1038/1628 and the most recent entry is dated 29 Gumada II 1038/1629. In their original state the sheets were folded over their length, and then probably stitched together so that they could constitute quires. How many lacunae there are between the present sheets cannot be said with certainty.
Six sheets of paper of a somewhat irregular shape; largest measurements are c. 220 x 200 mm, but the original register must have been somewhat bigger in length; naskh script; black ink.
The above descriptions have been literally derived from J.J. Witkam, Catalogue of Arabic manuscripts (Leiden 1983-), pp. 516-523, with a reproduction of Or. 14.428 A on p. 517, one of Or. Or. 14.428 U on p. 521, and one of Or. 14.428 Y on p. 523.

Collection of documents, presented in March 1977 by Dr. Frederick de Jong, Leiden.

Or. 14.431
Arabic, paper, several sizes and hands.
The `Illaysh documents. Collection of documents pertaining to the history of the Sufi orders in Egypt. The collection contains original documents, photocopies of documents and a few printed pieces. In the following descriptions frequent reference is made to F. de Jong, Turuq and Turuq-linked Institutions in Nineteenth-Century Egypt. A Historical Study in Organizational Dimensions of Islamic Mysticism (Leiden 1978). Part of the collection originates from personal papers of `Abd al-Rahman b. Muhammad `Illaysh (de Jong, op. cit., p. 174, n. 193).
I. Photocopy of part of a document in which the genealogies of Sidi Mansur al-Baz al-Bata'ihi are given. See on him al-Sha`rani, Lawaqih al-Anwar fi Tabaqat al-Akhyar (Cairo 1299/1881-2), vol.1, pp. 178-9. Being an uncle of Ahmad al-Rifa`i (al-Sha`rani, op. cit., p. 178), he must have lived in the 6th/12th century. Ahmad al-Rifa`i died on 12 Gumada I 570/1174 (al-Sha`rani, op. cit., p. 193. See on this genealogy F. de Jong, op. cit., p. 19, n. 68).
Two pages of photocopy (34 x 21,5 cm), containing only 13 lines of the entire document.
II. Silsilat al-Dhahab fi Istilah al-Sufiyya.
Broadsheet, with printed (lithograph or offset) text on one side only. It contains the Sufi genealogy (silsila) of al-shaykh Muhammad `Abdallah Shams al-Din Muhammad al-Makki al-Fasi al-Shadhili down to the Prophet Muhammad.

At the beginning of the text it is said that his crowning on the throne of al-Tariqa al-Shadhiliyya al-Fasiyya took place on Monday 26 Rabi` II 1385/23 August 1965. The broadsheet may have been printed on that occasion. See also F. de Jong, op. cit., p. 108, n. 52. Printed in Kayalpattinam in Tamil Nadu, India. Paper; 34 x 24 cm; brown-ochre ink (to emulate gold?); text set in double ruling.
III. Photocopy (29,5 x 21 cm) of a text on the fly-leaf of a book or manuscript (20,5 x 13,5 cm), containing the copy of a letter from al-sayyid `Abd al-Baqi Efendi al-Bakri (1266-1309/1850-1892, cf. F. de Jong, op. cit., p.217) to al-shaykh Sa`udi Matar. The letter is dated 23 Rabi` 1304/1886. In it al-sayyid Ahmad Efendi Sulayman is recognized by al-Bakri as the head of al-tariqa al-`Arabiyya al-Ahmadiyya al-Shadhiliyya. See F. de Jong, op. cit., p. 113. See also the next document.
IV. Draft of a letter (kitab) from Ahmad Sulayman (lived early 14th/end 19th century, cf. F. de Jong, op. cit., p. 113) to `Abd al-Baqi al-Bakri (1266-1309/1850-92, cf. J. de Jong, op. cit., p.217). Sender was the head of the Tariqa al-Sada al-Ahmadiyya al-`Arabiyya al-Shadhiliyya. His oval seal (with date 1305/1887-8) and his signature are on the draft. Addressee is the shaykh of al-Tariqa al-Bakriyya. The letter contains an igaza. Ruled paper, with text on one side only; 33,5 x 21,5 cm; black ink; c. 23 lines of text.
V. Photocopy of the latter part of a Sufi silsila, written by Ahmad al-Sawi (1175-1241/1761-1825, cf. de Jong, op. cit., index, s.v. Sawi). De Jong refers to this document (op. cit., pp. 158-9) as an example of a document in which changes have been made in order to suit the purpose of its owner.
Two leaves of photocopy of 34 x 21,5 em, with overlap of text; the original was probably a scroll; width of the text is 16 cm; in all 59 lines of text are available. Between lines 19 and 20 a space has been left blank so that a name can be written there; dated Friday 28 Ragab 1232/1817 (lines 53-57).
VI. Transcript of a list with questions and answers on practices during festivities of the Sufi turuq which were considered bid`a. The document is referred to by de Jong (op. cit., p. 159, n. 147). It would seem that the addressee was `Abd al-Rahman b. Muhammad `Illaysh (1840-1921), and that the answers are his. The text dates from approximately 1900.
One leaf of paper, with text on one side only; 20 x 30 cm; 25 lines; brown-black ink.
VI (bis). Letter of protest (qarar) from *shaykh*s of eight turuq, namely, al-Kannasiyya al-Ahmadiyya, al-Qadiriyya al-Faridiyya, al-Rifa`iyya, al-Bayyumiyya, al-Burhamiyya, al-Shadhiliyya, al-`Afifiyya and al-Mirganiyya. The *shaykh*s protest against alterations in the text of the 'Amended Regulations for the Turuq' (la'ihat al-turuq al-sufiyya) of 1903 (see for a translation of these in de Jong, op. cit., pp. 204-5; see also ibid., pp. 136-140). The present document is most probably only a transcript, as there are no original signatures or prints of seals. The letter is addressed to the shaykh masha'ikh al-turuq al-sufiyya, that is, Muhammad Tawfiq al-Bakri (1287-1351/1870-1932). The letter is dated 12 Gumada II 1321/1903 (see also de Jong, op. cit., p. 172, n. 183).
Provenance: archives of the Bakri family, Cairo. Ruled paper, with text on one side only; 33,5 x 23 cm; 28 lines; ruq `a script; black-violet ink.
VII. Letter from Mahbub Anbar, formerly khalifa in the Ahmadiyya tariqa and living in Imbaba, al-Giza, dated 14 Ramadan, without indication of year, addressed to the shaykh of al-Ta'ifa al-Shadhiliyya, namely, `Abd al-Rahman b. M. `Illaysh. Sender complains about a measure taken by shaykh `Ali Nuwaytu and his brother, shaykh Muhammad Nuwaytu, by which he is barred from attending maglis dhikr. An incident which happened on 11 Ramadan is described. The letter is signed and sealed by the sender. Three witnesses have also signed and sealed. The document is referred to by de Jong, op. cit., p. 174, n. 190, where it illustrates the struggle for leadership in the Arabiyya Shadhiliyya tariqa.

Ruled paper, with text on both sides; 34 x 23 em; 25 and 24 lines; ruq`a script; brown-black ink.
VIII. Letter from Muhammad al-Dardir b. M. al-Khalifa to `Abd al-Rahman b. M. `Illaysh, dated 1321/1903-4. The letter is signed and sealed by the sender. See also de Jong, op. cit., p. 174, notes 191 and 192. Ruled paper, with text on both sides; 27 x 21 cm; 31 lines of text in all; naskh script; brown-black ink.
IX. Original document of an agreement (tawafuq) between a number of shaykhs of al-Ta'ifa al-Madaniyya al-Darqawiyya al-Shadhiliyya concerning public religious festivities (sha`a'ir al-tariq). See on this ta'ifa de Jong, op. cit., pp. 108 and following. The document is signed by:
- Muhammad Mahmud `Illaysh al-Shadhili al-Darqawi al Madani, with seal print dated 1261/1845;
- Muhsin b. `Abdallah al-Yamani al-Shadhili;

Or. 14.436
Javanese, paper, 88 leaves, photostats of a nipah palmleaf MS, Old Javanese script loose leaves in a portfolio.
Photocopy of MS Oxford, Bodl. Lib., Jav. B.1 (R). See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. Addenda et corrigenda', in BSOAS 45 (1982), pp. 300-322, especially p. 321.
Rasa Carita mwang Kalpa rakwa manawasta, Old Javanese prose tutur, beginning with an introduction on cosmogony, the seven spheres of Cosmos, Acintya, the supreme Being; further containing religious and philosophic speculations on human genesis : structure of body (sarira) and mind; Bapa-bu (father and mother); Sapda Bayu Hedap (in most other texts: Sabda and Hidep, three constituents ofthe human personality: speech, matter and spirit); Sakala-Niskala (material, exoteric and immaterial, esoteric). Ethics of the wiku, man of religion, are discussed; sangsara, the sinful world : sogata paksa, the Buddhist denomination, are mentioned. The author seems to be inspired by Buddhist religiosity, though prominent features of Mahayana and Tantrism are not very much in evidence. Sac Mangwan (Manon), the Seeing one, is the term used to designate the supreme deity in the latter part of the text. (Manon is synonymous with Allah in Javanese Islamic texts). The last paragraph (leaf 90) begins: Mangkana tekang kalpasen: such is deliverance (kalepasan, a term frequently used in Javano-Balinese *tutur*s). Explanations of Sanskrit words and Sanskrit *sloka*s, completely or in part quoted, are an essential element of the text. It is presented as a lesson or a series of lessons on the fundamentals of religion given by a master to his pupils, in order to show them the right way to reach perfection. This is a characteristic of most *tutur*s. Whereas in some well-known *tutur*s names of (probably legendary) masters in holy lore are mentioned in the introduction, the present text seems to contain no names. Sanskrit carita, used in the title in the sense of religious practice, behaviour, is synonymous with laku, course, progress, which in Javanese texts, both pre-slamic and Islamic, can convey the same meaning. Kalpa, rule, order, is found as a title in another Old Javanese text of the same group: Kalpa Buda (Buddha), Or. 9456 and Or. 11.183 (Kirtya Nos. 776 and 777) and Buda Kalpa, CB 113 (4). The otherwise inexplicable word manawasta seems to be a corruption of Sanskrit anawastha, unstable, used in connection with Javanese rakwa, which means: so it is said, uncertain. Sanskrit awastha, (firm) position, is the origin of Javanese and Balinese wasta, westa, meaning: title, name. These words occur in the introduction of Or. 4463, in J. Brandes, Beschrijving der Javaansche, Balineesche en Sasaksche handschriften aangetroffen in de nalatenschap van Dr. H.N. van der Tuuk, en door hem vermaakt aan de Leidsche Universiteitsbibliotheek. 4 vols. Batavia 1901-1926, vol. III (1915), No. 975, a copy made by K.F. Holle (1829-1896) of an old codex in the KBG collection in Jakarta, dated Saka 1357, i.e. A.D. 1435, and called after the initial words Sang Hyang Ayu. The words Sang Hyang Ayu (or Hayu) used both in the Bodleian and the KBG manuscript apparently refer to Holy Good, or Holy Truth. The two texts seem to have some more features in common. The idiom of the Rasa Carita is Old Javanese. The fact that many paragraphs consist of explanations of Sanskrit words and sentences had a considerable influence on the style. The orthography of both Sanskrit and difficult Old Javanese words is not always correct; long vowels are not distinguished from short ones, and d and d. are represented by one character (d.). The latter fact is an indication of the West Javanese origin of the scribe, which is also apparent from the type of the script. This shows a similarity with the script of the Leiden Kunjara Karna Or. 2266 (facsimile plate 22 in Pigeaud vol. III, p. 21) also of West Javanese origin and a text of Buddhist inspiration. The writing of the Leiden codex is superior, though, the text of the Rasa Carita is difficult to read due both to the ambiguity or indistinctness of certain characters or clusters of characters and the mistakes made by the scribe. Influence of the Sundanese vernacular on the idiom of the text is scarcely in evidence, though.

The original of the Rasa Carita is registered in the Bodleian Library, Oxford, as MS Jav. b. 1 (R). It was presented to the library in 1627 by Andrew James. See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. A catalogue of manuscripts in Indonesian languages in British public collections. Oxford 1977, p. 177. On the ground of the similarity of the script with Leiden Or. 2266, the Kunjara Karna MS of circa 1500 A.D., it is to be assumed that the Rasa Carita manuscript dates from the same period.

The 78 nipah palmleaves were in disorder. The photostats collected in Or. 14.436 have been rearranged according to the original Javanese numbering, written at right angles to the writing of the text, in the left hand margins of the upper leaves. As a rule in palmleaf manuscripts the numbers are written in the margins of the lower leaves. This particularity was of ten overlooked by the photographer of the Bodleian codex. Students using the set of photostats should take account of the perfectly understandable irregularities of the photographer's work. The first 'page' of the manuscript (8 lines written on an upper end a lower leaf) and some loose leaves without writing on it, have no numbers. The highest number is 91, the leaves numbered 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83 and 85 are missing. The text ends abruptly, the conclusion is missing and there is no colophon. Or. 8515, above, contains a preliminary romanized transliteration of the initial leaves of the text made by J. Soegiarto and P. Voorhoeve in 1954.
Provenance: The present complete set of microfilms of the Rasa Carita is due to the courtesy of the librarian of the Bodleian Library, extended to the Leiden library in 1977. The microfilms are registered in the Leiden library as A 428. Pigeaud IV, pp. 206-208. See alsp Or. 14.492, below.

Anling Darma romance in macapat verse, romanized copy of MS Jakarta, KBG, No. 98 (copied in MS Jakarta, KBG Brandes collection No. 78), made for G.W.J. Drewes in Jakarta between 1930 and 1940. See G.W.J. Drewes, The romance of King Anling Darma in Javanese literature. Text and translation of the kidung Aji Darma. The Hague 1975, pp. 171 and pp. 196-206 (summary of contents). The original MS, Jakarta, KBG 98 (272 pp.), contains many illustrations. It is an extensive version of the tale, but unfinished. The scribe (or editor) was a native of Rembang, maybe of Madurese extraction, called Reja Diwirya, who lived in Bangka, probably in the middle of the 19th century. The MS was presented to the KBG in Batavia/Jakarta in 1871 by Mr van Coevorden, a member of the board of directors. See Pigeaud IV, p. 209.

Javanese, paper, 170 pp., romanized, type-written, loose leaves in a green cover.
Anling Darma romance in macapat verse, romanized copy of palmleaf MS Jakarta, KBG Engelenberg collection No 20, made for G.W.J. Drewes in Batavia/Jakarta between 1920 and 1930. See G.W.J. Drewes, The romance of King Anling Darma in Javanese literature. Text and translation of the kidung Aji Darma. The Hague 1975, pp. 172 and pp. 220-231. (summary of contents). This palmleaf MS, written in Lombok in Saka 1809, A.D. 1887, has many stanzas in common with the Anling Darma episode in the Major Serat Kanda (MS Jakarta, KBG No. 7, Leiden Or. 6379). Worth noting in the Lombok version are, moreover, the allusions to the preaching of Islam in Boja Nagara and the Moslim holy men's controversy with adherents of the Agama Keling . Versions of the Anling Darma tales were apparently popular in the sphere of the Pasisir culture at the time of the spreading of Islam in the 16th century. In this respect they are comparable with the numerous offshoots of the Menak Amir Hamza tale, the major Islamic epic of Javanese and Malay literature. See Pigeaud IV, p. 209.

Batak, tree bark, 44 ff. (28 x 17 cm), 2 wooden covers, one of which has sculpted ornamentation.
Pustaha with four texts: Panggorda ni panuruni, Rambu siporhas, Dua radja odjim and Pamuhu tanduk. All have been written for, and possibly also by, Guru Manubung ni adji in Palipi on Samosir. Van der Tuuk's informant Guru Saniang Naga (see OVB pp. 9, 117, 191) mentions him in Or. 3400 as the teacher of his teacher. In Or. 3425 are three chains of transmission between Guru Manubung ni adji and Guru Saniang Naga. Guru Manubung ni adji was the direct teacher of Guru Tumurun hasta ni adji who has written the great pustaha of Van der Tuuk (Amsterdam, KIT A 1389). The chain of transmission of the part about rambu siporhas is identical to that in the manuscript from Batipuh which has been described by Winkler in BKI 110. There follow after Guru Manubung two more chains. The present manuscript must therefore date from the end of the 18th century. See also the excerpr in Or. 12.322, ff. 863-866.

Materials in connenction with J.H. Moesman's interest in the Arabic script and early typography. Collected at Moesman's request from the early 1970's onwards, till Moesman lost interest in the project, around 1980.
About Moesman and de Arabic script the following may be said. J.H. Moesman (1909-1988) is best known as a Dutch surrealist painter, and several posthumous exhibitions (Utrecht, Arnhem) have enhanced this reputation. Although Moesman's activities in the field of Western typography are much less known, his design 'Petronius' has actually been used at a few instances.
But it is less known that Moesman had a great interest during the 1970's in the Arabic script and typography. In the biography of Moesman by John Steen, Moesman. Monografie. Catalogus van schilderijen en objecten. Zwolle 1998, this is given ample attention for the first time. Being a calligrapher, Moesman was very much interested in the possibilities of calligraphy which were intrinsic in the Arabic script. That made him conduct a truly scholarly search for the origins of Arabic script and the ideas that were behind its historical development. He also started with a plan to document Arabic typography from its first use onwards. In addition, he designed an Arabic font himself, a font which constituted – so he was convinced – a typogaphical revolution, since it was better applicable than all other Arabic fonts that were and are used in the world. There are a few publications in which this font, which Moesman had given the name al-Musahhal, the simplified script, have been used.
The basic thought behind this design was that much space could be saved and at the same time reading Arabic in this font would be easier. Moesman tried to attain this goal with the following measures:
1. The n-height of the Arabic font should be increased, whereby the letter would become better recognizable. That would make it possible that Arabic would be typeset in smaller fonts than usual.
2. At the same tine tails and shafts could be decreased in size, or at least very much reduced. In this way the font would need less interline that usual.
3. The letters would not be cursive, written in connection to one another, but should be disconnected, as Latin script. In this way most ligatures in Arabic typesetting would become superfluous.
The font al-Musahhal has been first used by Moesman in his bibliophile publication Op engelvoeten. À pas de loup. Amsterdam (Brumes blondes) 1975.
In order to obtain examples for his design and also to let himself be inspired by the work of Arab calligraphers, Moesman regularly visited the Leiden Library to study authentic calligraphic and paleographic models from the Oriental collections in the Library of the University of Leiden.

Or. 14.492
Javanese, paper (photocopy), Javanese buda or gunung script, 49 ff., original numbering illegible.
Photocopy of MS London, IOL, Jav. 53k, an Old Javanese Saivite tutur. See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, 'Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. Addenda et corrigenda', in BSOAS 45 (1982), pp. 300-322, especially p. 319. See also idd., (1977), p. 66. The original palmleaf manuscript was severely damaged.
Old Javanese tutur, book of notes on religious subjects, popular Siwaitic Javanese speculations on the structure of microcosmos and macrocosmos, locations of numerous gods and spirits (bhutas) in limbs and organs of the human body. Besides the great gods Siwa, Brahma, Wisnu etc. epical heroes such as Anggada, Sugriwa and Anuman, the panca resi Kusika, Garga, Metri, Kurusya and Pratanjala, and also specific Javanese divine beings such as Tutur Menget (see Pigeaud III, Index, p. 418) are occasionally mentioned. The lists of spirits etc. located in limbs of the human body are in some cases couched in incantations. It seems probable that those incantations or invocations were used in magic rites practised to avert evil influences or to cure illness. A rule of Old Javanese law referring to forbidden sexual intercourse is incidentally mentioned, probably because of its supposed evil influence on the general state of the country.
The idiom of the text is Old Javanese. The orthography is scholarly. Most Sanskrit words and names are correctly spelled.
The buda script is of a curly variety which is particularly difficult to decipher. The writing is carefully done.
Two inserted leaves (ns 15 and 16) have writing in a sloping Javanese script of a later age, may be the 18th century. It is not very carefully written, and shows resemblance with the script found in numerous East Javanese palmleaf manuscripts of the Islamic Yusup romance. The popular Yusup poem (Life of Joseph son of Jacob) may date from the 17th century or even earlier (see Pigeaud I. p. 217 f). The text of the inserted leaves is of the same kind as the main text in buda script, incantations of butas, addressed with the pronoun kita, but orthography and phraseology are of a later age. There is no reason to suppose that the inserted leaves originally belonged to another manuscript. They may be inserted by a later owner of the buda manuscript in order to fill a hiatus.

The original manuscript was once exposed to smoke, perhaps at the time that it was suspended from the rafters inside a Javanese house, as a means to keep it safe from moisture and insects. Smoke and accumulated dirt on the outside of the palmleaf manuscript had the effect that the top and bottom lines, which were exposed, were darkened so as to become practically illegible. The two lines in the middle of the leaves remained fairly clear. Moreover the leaves seem to be warped. Yet, in spite of the care of the original owner, the manuscript was ultimately attacked by insects and lost many leaves.
The present description is based upon photocopies which were made with the utmost care at the India Office Library, London, in 1975. The illegibility of the top and bottom lines made it impossible to ascertain the correct sequence of the palmleaves. The remnants of the original numbering on the left-hand margins of the leaves were of little use because of the numerous gaps. The nature of a book of notes, lacking a regular order, makes the uncertainty of the sequence of the leaves less regrettable than it would be in a historical text or a poem. A new numbering with Arabic numbers (la-49b) has been written on the photocopies for practical purposes.
In the Javanese text the items or paragraphs are separated from each other by *pada*s, punctuation marks mostly consisting of two small circles with some embellishments.
The presence of the inserted leaves written with an East Javanese script confirms the statement that the buda script manuscripts in the Mackenzie collection in the India Office Library originate from the district of Puger in the Eastern Corner of Java (see M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. A catalogue of manuscripts in Indonesian languages in British public collections. Oxford 1977, p. 65). The collection contains 24 manuscripts, all damaged. Photocopies of the remaining 23 manuscripts are not yet available.
The contents of IOL Jav. 53-k, the original of Or. 14.492, suggest an affinity to the religious speculations on gods and spirits located in limbs of the humen body frequently found in Javano-Balinese *tutur*s. The appearance of the panca resi, epical heroes and Tutur Menget also points in that direction. No specific Buddhist deities are mentioned, in contradistinction to the Rasa Carita text in buda script (Bodleian Library, Oxford, Ms Jav. b.l (R), M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. A catalogue of manuscripts in Indonesian languages in British public collections. Oxford 1977, p. 177, Or. 14.436, above, which originates from West Java and shows Buddhist inspiration.
The Eastern Corner of Java, east of the Sumeru massif, remained culturally united with Bali for many centuries after the conversion to Islam of the coastal distrcits (Pasisir) of Central and East Java in the 16th century. It is quite possible that pre-slamic religious centres like the dukuh of Purwasari mentioned in the Mackenzie manuscript IOL Jav. 53-z subsisted in the mountainous hinterland of Java's Eastern Corner up to the middle ofthe 18th century. Holy books cherished as heirlooms and carefully preserved in the houses of *ajar*s, masters of religious communities in the mountain villages, might originally be written or copied in the 17th century. The knowledge of buda script in some varieties was probably preserved as a heirloom by some pre-slamic or archaic Islamic communities both in West Java, Central Java and East Java well into the 19th century. Colonel Mackenzie reported that the 24 palmleaf manuscripts were brought him in 1812 'by the civility of a regent from a long deserted house in the distant forests, where they had lain neglected for many years.' The regent in question was probably the kyahi tumenggung Puger who is mentioned in the manuscript IOL Jav. 53-z. Some of the oldest manuscripts in the collection, including the present tutur in buda script, might date from the 17th century.

The beautiful photocopies of IOL Jav 53-k were originally sent to the present author by the Assistent Keeper of the department of Classical Indian languages of the India Office Library for inspection and identification. It was hoped at the time that the whole collection of 24 palmleaf manuscripts (not all of them in buda script, though) could be catalogued in this manner. Various circumstances seem to make the fulfilment of this undertaking within a reasonable span of time improbable. Therefore the present description of one of the oldest of the buda manuscripts of the Mackenzie collection is now published in the catalogue of the Leiden University Library, where the photocopies have been deposited with the graceful consent of the Assistent Keeper. In this manner this remarkable collection is at least partly brought to the notice of interested scholars.

Persian, paper, 185 ff., 'old' naskh script, full-leather binding.
Kitab Ta`bir al-Ahlam (title in later hand, f. 1a). Unidentified text about interpretation of dreams, incomplete at the beginning and the end. The text consists of an introduction in two sections (Fasl), each divided into paragraphs (Nukta). After these preliminaries are explained the vision of God, of the angels, the prophets and the saints in the dream. Then follows an alphabetical list of objects which can be seen in a dream. The last entry is Kulah, the rest is missing. Comparison proves that this manuscript does not contain al-Tiflisi's dreambook which is arranged in a similar way.
Provenance: Purchased in August 1978 from Messrs. E.J. Brill, antiquarian booksellers and Oriental publishers in Leiden.

Mustafa al-Rumi al-Misri (d. 1070/1659), GAL G II, 314), and the collection makes the impression of having been at some stage one collective volume. Al-Fawa'id al-Saniyya fil-Masa'il al-Diniyya, by Nuh b. Mustafa al-Hanafi (= Nuh Efendi b. Mustafa al-Rumi al-Misri (d. 1070/1659), GAL G II, 314).

(Ar. 4420)

Or. 14.501
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 4 ff., naskh script, the second text seems to be an autograph, recent European binding.
(1) Matla` al-Badr fi Fadl Laylat al-Qadr, by Nuh b. Mustafa al-Hanafi (= Nuh Efendi b. Mustafa al-Rumi al-Misri (d. 1070/1659), GAL G II, 314).
(2) Fatwa fi Sabab Wugud Muqatalat al-Rawafid wa-Gawaz Qatlihim, by the same author. Autograph copy of a fatwa on the obligation to combat the rawafid and whether it is permitted to kill them. There is evidence that this fatwa was written by Nuh b. Mustafa al-Hanafi al-Rumi himself. The text begins with the statement that this is a copy (sura) of the fatwa, but apparently one made by the author himself. If this text is indeed an autograph, it would imply that the other text in this volume (and indeed the other texts in this collection of writings of Nuh b. Mustafa) was copied during the author's lifetime.
(Ar. 4421)

Or. 14.502
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 10 ff., naskh script, recent European binding.
(1) ff. Al-Qawl al-Azhar fi Bayan al-Hagg al-Akbar, by Nuh b. Mustafa al-Hanafi (= Nuh Efendi b. Mustafa al-Rumi al-Misri (d. 1070/1659), GAL G II, 314). In this risala the author explores the question whether or not there is a basis in the Islamic law for the opinion that the hagg which falls on a Friday (al-hagg al-akbar) is worth seventy pilgrimages which fall on another day.

(2) al-Kalam al-Masuq fi Bayan al-Masbuq, by the same author. Fatwa in answer to a question sent to the author from Mecca by the shaykh `Ali al-Ghawri al-Hanafi regarding the juridical validity of a salat when the performance of the musalli is behind that of imam in time. There is probably a lacuna between ff. 7-8, and ff. 8a-b are possibly not part of this text. The masbuq is, however, mentioned on f. 8a. A related question is treated in Or. 14.504, below, f. 6a.
(3) al-Mas'ala al-Mulaqqaba bil-Thamaniya, by the same author.
(Ar. 4422)

Or. 14.503
Arabic, paper, 5 ff., naskh script, recent European binding.
Risala fil-Iqtida' bil-Shafi`i wa-`Adam Gawazih, by Nuh b. Mustafa al-Hanafi (= Nuh Efendi b. Mustafa al-Rumi al-Misri (d. 1070/1659), GAL G II, 314). Treatise in which instances of ritual purity and the like are collected from a number of books in which it is not permitted (for the Hanafiyya, the author's school of law) to follow a Shafi`ite.
(Ar. 4423)

Arabic, paper, 9 ff., naskh script, recent European binding.
al-Salat al-Rabbaniyya fi Hukm man adraka Rak`at al-Thulathiyya wal-Ruba`iyya, by Nuh b. Mustafa al-Hanafi (= Nuh Efendi b. Mustafa al-Rumi al-Misri (d. 1070/1659), GAL G II, 314). In this treatise the author explores questions concerning rak`a in those *salat*s that consist of three or four *rak`a*s in connection with the masbuq, that is the person who is behind the imam's performance in time. A related subject is treated in Or. 14.502 (2). The text is in the shape of an answer to a question, put to the author.
(Ar. 4424)

Or. 14.505
Arabic, paper, 16 ff., naskh script, recent European binding.
`Umdat al-Raghibin fi Ma`rifat Ahkam `Imad al-Din, by Nuh b. Mustafa al-Hanafi (= Nuh Efendi b. Mustafa al-Rumi al-Misri (d. 1070/1659), GAL G II, 314). Elementary text on the salat.

Risala 12 (latter part only), 13, 14 and 15 of Al-Tahqiqat al-Qudsiyya wa-al-Nafahat al-Rahmaniyya al-Hasaniyya fi Madhhab al-Sada al-Hanafiyya, a compilation on subjects of Islamic law according to the Hanafi madhhab by Abu al-Ikhlas Hasan b. `Ammar al-Shurunbulali al-Hanafi (d. 1069/1658, cf. GAL G II, 313). See for further information the description of Or. 14.483 (2), above. In this copy as well, the date of compilation by the author is mentioned in the colophons: risala 12: middle of Gumada II 1060/1650 (f. 2a), risala 13: beginning of Rabi` I 1066/1655 (f. 5b), risala 14: beginning of Ragab 1065/1655 (f. 14a), and risala 15: al-Qa`da 1067/1657 (f. 19a).

The *risala*s 13-15 which are available in this MS coincide with the Kitab al-Sawm and the Kitab al-Hagg (see Ahlwardt's description of the Berlin MS 5002).
Earlier provenance: Before f. 1 a is a fly-leaf with recent owner's note. This would appear to be Mohammad Baqir `Ulwan. It is possible that the entire collection of manuscripts which the Leiden Library purchased in 1978 from McBlain Books, then in Des Moines, Iowa, USA, formerly belonged to this scholar. They are registered in the Library as Or. 14.497-14.511 and Or. 14.522-14.532, Or. 14.663, and there is a manuscript of this former owner in the private collection of the author of this inventory, which was purchased in 1980, also from McBlain's (registered as No. 27).

Al-Tuffaha al-Wardiyya fi Sharh al-Qasidat al-Zaynabiyya, commentary by `Abd al-Mu`ti b. Salim b. `Umar al-Shibli al-Simillawi (lived 1110/1698, cf. GAL G II, 322; see also E. Wagner, Arabische Handschriften I (VOHD XVII/B, Wiesbaden 1976), p. 287, No. 347) on al-Qasida al-Zaynabiyya, which is commonly ascribed to `Ali b. Abi Talib (d. 40/661), GAL S I, 74; GAS II, 277-281, in particular p. 280. In his preface (p. 2) the author of the commentary informs the reader that he first conceived the idea of writing a commentary in the night of 2 Dhu al-Qa`da 1087/1677. On p. 3 mention is made of a considerable number of reference works which were used by the author for the compilation of his commentary.

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, Persian, Turkish, 105 ff., naskh script, modern (20th-century) leather binding.
(1) ff. 1b-11a. Al-Mafatih al-Darriyya fi Ithbat al-Qawanin al-Durriyya. No title or author is mentioned. Introduction to the Persian language, written in Arabic, by Mustafa b. Abi Bakr al-Siwasi (of uncertain period). Identification was established with MS Berlin Lbg. 821 (catalogue Ahlwardt, No. 6845). On f. 1a are several notes in Turkish and Arabic by an owner, one of which contains a date: 1257/1841. An owner's name is legible: Husayn `Ala'iyyeli (ff. 1a, 12a). The text ends with the Persian numerals which are here given up to twenty-six. It would appear, therefore, that the end is lacking in this manuscript, as compared to the Berlin MS. The Arabic text abounds with breaches of the rules of Arabic orthography.
(2) ff. 13b-105a. Sa`adatnama, or Sharh-i Pand-i `Attar, the Turkish commentary by Mawlana Mustafa (takhallus Sham`i, d. after 1012/1603-1604) on the Persian Pandnama of Farid al-Din `Attar (d. after 586/1190).

11, of his own al-Maqasid al-Nahwiyya fi Sharh Shawahid Shuruh al-Alfiyya, which is a commentary on the shawahid in four commentaries on al-Alfiyya, the didactic poem on Arabic grammar by Muhammad b. `Abdallah Ibn Malik (d. 672/1274), GAL G I, 298. The manuscript was identified with MS Berlin, Pet. 201 (cat. Ahlwardt 6647), of which a microfilm is preserved in the Leiden Library (A 589). The work is also known under the title Shawahid al-`Ayni al-Sughra. Ahlwardt gives an explanation of the abbreviations used by al-`Ayni for reference to the four commentaries on Ibn Malik's Alfiyya.

Nisab-i Sibyan. Arabic-Persian dictionary, metrically composed, by Abu Nasr al-Farahi (8/14th cent.), GAL G II, 193. Didactic and encyclopedic poem in Persian, containing the basic materials of the Arabic lexicon. H. Ethé, Catalogue of Persian Manuscripts in the Library of the India Office (London 1903), col. 1294, dates the author as early as 617/1220. Comparison with two printed editions of this text (Tabriz 1287/1870-1871 and Tehran 1314/1896-1897) and with two other Leiden manuscripts (Or. 1664 (2) and Or. 1678 (2), see P. Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 254) shows that all texts considerably differ from one another, both in the arrangement of the material and the number of lines of poetry in each section (qit`a). Some versions have numbered sections, others have unnumbered section headings.
f. 1a. Originally blank page, now with owners' marks:
- oval owner's seal: Banda-yi Khuda Hasan;.
- munla Ahmad;
- a Turkish inscription in ruq`a script, containing a name (Nur Shaykhi Sadiq Aghazada Shukri Efendi) and date (262 = ? 1262/1845-1846). The Arabic and Persian words which are each other's equivalent have been indicated as such by the copyist, who put numbers underneath the words in order to confirm the relationship, e.g. on f. 2a: sama and asman. Sometimes these numbers are used to enumerate, as in the case of the names of the four khulafa' rashidun on f. 2a. In other manuscripts of this text one often sees the letters `ayn (for `arabi) and fa' (for farsi) underneath the respective Arabic and Persian words.
f. 33a. Notes in Arabic and Turkish written in a nasta`liq hand different from the copyist's. One note concerns the word halumma. Some other notes are taken from the dictionary Akhtari.

Turkish, Arabic, paper, 100 ff., naskh script, tables, gadawil with letters used in their numerical value, half-leather Oriental binding; pasted boards.
Magmu` Al-Zig bil-Falak. Collective volume with astronomical tables and texts. The sources of several gadawil are indicated. The table on f. 65a mentions the Ra'is al-Munaggimin Muhammad Sadiq Efendi as the one who has calculated that table. There is a date for his work: 1208 (1793-1794). On f. 70a a Salih Efendi-yi marhum is mentioned and on f. 84b a Risala-yi Salimi is mentioned. Several gadawil contain dates. On ff. 36b-38a there is a Miftah-i Ruznama-yi Gadid li-`Arad ma which contains tables for the Higri years 1177/1763-1523/2099. On ff. 42b-43b are gadawil for the year 1800 AD. On f. 73a is a Ruznama li-`Arad ma for the period 1214/1799-1300/1883. As tables are usually calculated for the future, one may assume that the present MS dates from 1208/1793-1794 or somewhat earlier.

Arabic, paper, 184 ff., naskh script, dated 16 Gumada II 1328/25 May 1910, copied by Mahmud b. Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Sayyad al-Marsafi in Cairo on from the original in al-Kutubkhana al-Khudaywiyya (f. 181a), which was copied by Musa b. Muhammad b. Yahya b. `Atif at the end of Dhu al-Higga 995/1587 (f. 177), European-style leather binding, with flap, with gilded ornaments, on the back of the binding are the title and the original owner's initials, 'Dr C.P.'.
Kitab Qurrat al-Nazir wa-Nuzhat al-Khatir, which is the Diwan of `Ali Ibn Sudun al-Bashbughawi (d. 868/1464), GAL G II, 18. See on the position of the present manuscript in the textual tradition of the book now Arnoud Vrolijk, Bringing a laugh to a scowling face. A study and critical edition of the 'Nuzhat al-nufūs wa-muḍḥik al-ʿabūs' by ʿAlī Ibn Sūdūn al-Bašbuġāwī (Cairo 810/1407 - Damascus 868/1464). Leiden 1998.
Collection of comic, satirical and facetious texts in prose and poetry. In his introduction (ff. 3a-4a) the author informs us that he first compiled a mixed collection of all his pieces, both the serious (al-giddiyyat) and the humourous, satirical ones (al-hazaliyyat), under the title Nuzhat al-Nufus wa-Mudhik al-`Abus. It is doubtful whether there are any extant copies of this first, unarranged version. In the beginning of 854/1450, the author made a rearrangement of the material and divided it into two categories (f. 4a). The present work is also known as Diwan Ibn Sudun. Our MS is a copy of MS 329 of Dar al-Kutub al-Misriyya in Cairo (catalogue 1307/1889-90, vol. 4, p. 291, and catalogue 1345/1927, vol. 3, p. 410). The manuscript was probably commissioned by Friedrich Kern (1875-1921), who used it extensively for his article 'Neuere ägyptische Humoristen und Satiriker', in MSOS 9 (1906), pp. 31-73. On p. 32 of his article, Kern mentions that copies of the two Cairo manuscripts were made on his behalf. The present description is mainly based on Kern's article. The present manuscript, however, bears another owner's name on its back: Dr. Curt Prüfer (1881-1959). This German scholar published the text and translation of Li`b al-der (Ein agyptisches Schattenspiel. Erlangen 1906) as his doctoral thesis and also the article on Arabic drama in the Encyclopaedia of Religion and Ethics (vol. 4, Edinburgh 1911, pp. 872-878). He was Oriental Secretary to the German Diplomatic Agency in Egypt in the years before the First World War (ibid., p. x). It is possible that Prüfer acquired Kern's copy, but it is equally possible that Prüfer commissioned this copy himself and that it is therefore, in fact, a second copy, one which is not identical with the copy which Kern ordered to be made. Prüfer was probably also the owner who commissioned the Leiden MS Or. 14.521, below. That MS appears to have been copied by the same copyist as the present one. Both manuscripts have in common their interest in the study of Arabic humour and satire and the Egyptian colloquial language. A great number of the texts in this volume have been edited by Muhammad Qandil al-Baqli in his study on the musical modes in Ibn Sudun's *zagal*s (al-Awzan al-Musiqiyya fi Azgal Ibn Sudun. Cairo 1976).

Or. 14.521
Arabic, paper, 124 ff., naskh script, copied by the same copyist who also copied Or. 14.520 (the preceding MS). He is Mahmud b. M. b. Ahmad al-Sayyad al-Marsafi (Or. 14.520, f. 181a). The copying of the 4th and 5th play was completed on 28 and 23 December 1909 respectively (colophons on ff. 108a and 124b), whereas the other plays have no separate colophon; half-leather binding in European style, but made in Cairo by Richard Preller (sticker inside end-cover).

Arabic, paper, 159 ff., naskh script, undated, but probably copied in order to serve as printer's copy and, therefore, not much older than 1325/1907, the year when the edition was published, modern half-leather binding, manufactured in the Middle East.

Kitab al-Isha`a li-Ashrat al-Sa`a, by Muhammad b. Rasul al-Husayni al-Barzangi al-Shahrazuri (d. 1103/1691), GAL G II, 388. The author completed the composition of his work in al-Madina on 11 Dhu al-Qa`da 1076 (1666) (f. 159a). The author appears to have been inspired by works by al-Suyuti (d. 911/1505) on the same subject, as he states on ff. 1b-2a. The present MS was the printer's copy for the edition published in Cairo in 1325/1907. See on this manuscript as an example of printer's copy Jan Just Witkam, 'Manuscripts in print. Some Arabic examples', in MME 2 (1987), pp. 115-125.

The author mentions some of his sources in the introduction: an Ikhtisar by al-Sha`rani, the Tadhkira by Dawud b. `Umar al-Antaki (d. 1008/1599), GAL G II, 364. That author had written an abridgment on his own Tadhkira entitled al-Durra al-Muntakhaba fi al-Adwiya al-Mugarraba. The present treatise is meant to contain the essence of that abridgment by al-Antaki (ff. 1b-2a). In the course of the text several other works on medicine are quoted.
Earlier provenance: Muhammad Baqir `Ulwan (name printed at the bottom of the spine).

Convolute volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 126 ff., maghribi script, dated 1338 AH, the five texts in the volume were not continuously written, but they correspond with the quires and were apparently bound at a later date; copied in the course of 1338/1920 (1. 7 Shawwal (f. 11a); 2. 19 Shawwal (f. 56a); 3. 22 Shawwal (f. 68a); 4. 27 Ragab (f. 103a); 5. 7 Ramadan (f. 124a), copied by Muhammad b. Dawud (ff. 56a, 103a), who copied the other texts in the volume as well; modern half-cloth binding, with pasted boards.
A magmu`a with five texts from Morocco, mainly of historical contents. The MS was commissioned by E. Levi-Provençal (1894-1956) and belongs to the same set as the three volumes of Or. 8908 a-c, which were described by P.S. van Koningsveld, 'Ten Arabic Manuscript-Volumes of Historical Contents ...' in: E. van Donzel (ed.), Studies on Islam (Amsterdam, 1974), pp. 92-110. This is proven by the fact that Levi-Provençal is sometimes mentioned in the colophons (ff. 56a, 103a, 124a), and from other features (the same copyist, approximately the same date of copying, identical lay-out, mention of the Institut des Hautes-Etudes Marocaines de Rabat (f. 11a), and from the fact that the title of the 5th text in the present magmu`a is mentioned on the fly-leaf of Or. 8908a. It is at once evident that some of the texts in this volume were used by Levi-Provençal for his Les historiens des Chorfa (Paris 1922).

(1) ff. 1a-11a. Nubda min Targamat al-Shaykh Ahmad al-Nasir (title on ff. 1a, 1b; authors on f. 1a). Biography of the Moroccan historian shaykh Ahmad b. Khalid al-Nasir (1250/1834 - 1315/1898 (ff. 1b-2a, 8a), GAL S II, 888, and see also E. Levi-Provençal, Les historiens des chorfa, pp. 351 ff.), who is best known as the author of Kitab al-Istiqsa li-Akbar Duwal al-Magrib al-Aqsa. The biography is written by his two sons, Ga`far al-Nasiri and Mahammad al-Nasiri. A note on f. 1b states that this biography was compiled on the basis of what Ahmad b. Khalid al-Nasiri wrote about himself in the course of his several works, and the biographical information given by his pupil, the historian M. b. `Ali al-Dokkali al-Salawi (see on him Levi-Proven al, op. cit., pp. 351, 366), especially in the latter's work entitled Taklid al-Ma'athir wa-Tasyid al-Mafakhir (f. 11a).
(2) ff. 13b-56a. Fahrasa (title on ff. 13b, 55b, 56a; author on f. 13b). Fahrasa (enumeration of his teachers and their knowledge) made at the instigation (f. 13b) of the Sa`did sharif Abu al-`Abbas Ahmad al-Mansur (reigned 986-1012/1578-1602, cf. Zambaur, p. 81), by Ahmad b. `Ali aL-Mangur (d. 995/1587), GAL S II, 697, who completed the compilation in the end of Ragab 989/1581. See also on this text Levi-Provençal, op. cit., pp. 88-92, from whose account (p. 91, note 1) it is clear that he used this very manuscript. The reference by Levi- Provençal to f. 42 of his own manuscript fits the text on f. 54a of the present volume, which actually is fol. 42 of the second text in the volume. As the author informs us that he had to compile the present work without having recourse to his notebooks (ff. 14a, 55b), a blank space in the text occasionally indicates the place where additional information should have been written.The manuscript was copied from a manuscript in the collection the Institut des Hautes-Etudes Marocaines de Rabat, which, in turn, is a copy from a MS in the collection of sid9 `Ali b. Mansur b. Sulayman al-Shayzam (f. 56a). This vizir of the Sa`did dynasty is mentioned by Levi- Provençal, op. cit., p. 401) in the hand of `Abd al-Hadi b. Hurmat Allah b. Hayba b. Hurmat Allah al-Dar`i.
(3) ff. 57b-68a. Mawlidiyya fi Madh Khayr al-Bariyya, by `Abd al-`Aziz b. Abi `Umar al-Qishtali, followed by six similar poems.
(3) ff. 57b-68a. Mawlidiyya fi Madh Khayr al-Bariyya (titles on ff. 57b, 59a, 61b, 66a, 67a, 67b, 68a, authors mentioned on ff. 57b, 59a, 59b, 61b). A collection of poems composed by several poets at the occasion of the Mawlid al-Nabi, in order to be sung. The first (ff. 57b-59a) and third (ff. 61b-63b) poem are ascribed to sidi `Abd al-`Aziz b. Abi `Amr al-Qustari, whom I have not been able to identify. The second poem (ff. 59a-61b) is ascribed to `Abd al-`Aziz b. M. b. Ibrahim al-Fishtali (d. 1031/1621), GAL S II, 680, see also on him E. Levi-Provençal, op. cit., pp. 92-97. The others pieces are not ascribed to someone. Instructions concerning the melody of the poetry are added at the beginning of the texts. Comparison between the poems shows that there is a strong common formulaic element in this type of poetry.
(4) ff. 69a-103a. al-Ta`allul bi-Rasm al-snad ba`d Intiqal Ahl al-Manzil wal-Nad, by Abu `Abdallah Muhammad b. Ahmad b. M. Ibn Ghazi al-`Utmani al-Miknasi (d. 919/1513), GAL S II, 338 (title and author on f. 69a; author also f. 69b; title also on f. 102b with al-Ta`lil bi-Rusum in stead of al-Ta`allul bi-Rasm). A Fahrasa (Enumeration of his teachers and their knowledge) See also Levi-Provençal, op. cit., pp. 224-230.The compilation of the work was completed by the author on 18 Ragab 896/1491.The present manuscript is a copy of MS Rabat, Bibliothèque Générale, No. 413 (cf. Catalogue by E. Levi-Provençal (Paris 1921), pp. 159-160), which was copied in Shawwal 1009/1601. In the beginning the author gives an enumeration of *shaykh*s to whom he feels to be spiritually related and of works which he considers as his intellectual luggage. On f. 101b-102a he gives an account of his own igazat, which he obtained from his teacher Abu `Abdallah al-Sakhawi (d. 902/1497, cf. GAL G II, 34). There follows, on ff. 102a-b, the author's autobibliography (see also Levi-Provençal, op. cit., p. 230, note 2). Then follows the igaza of the present work, with the date of issue (f. 102b). On f. 103a is the colophon of the exemplar (MS Rabat No. 413), which was commissioned for sidi Abu al-`Abbas Ahmad al-Fishtali. Then follows the copyist's colophon.

(5) ff. 105a-124a. al-Rawd al-Hatun fi Akhbar Miknasa al-Zaytun, by al-Miknasi, GAL S II, 338. With notes by (?) E. Lévi-Provençal (1894-1956).
Also in this binding two printed texts:
(6) al-Qasida al-Wannaniyya, Rabat 1333 AH.
(7) Dhikra Khatm al-Bukhari, 1338 AH.
Collection of texts commissioned by E. Lévi-Provençal, as was Or. 8908 a-c, above.

I`lam Shar`i. Document concerning the dissolution of a marriage, or alimony, for Nafisa bt. Nasir b. Mustafa.
(Ar. 4487)

Arabic, paper, 60 ff., naskh script with features of nasta`liq, half-leather Islamic binding, boards covered with red silk.
`Unwan al-Sharaf, by `Imad al-Din Isma`il b. Badr al-Muqri al-Yamani. There are five texts, which are presented simultaneously. The first (that is seen from the right) of the seven columns contains a treatise om Arabic metrics, the third column a treatise on the Rasuli dynasty in the Yemen (1228-1454), the fifth column a treatise on Arabic grammar, and the seventh column contains a treatise on the rhyme in Arabic poetry. Columns 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 constitute together, if read horizontally and continuously, a work on Islamic law according to the Shafi`ite school. At the end, the author accomplishes his tour-de-force by ending all five texts at the same moment. Books which are executed in this way are rare in Arabic literature, and probably in other literatures as well. There seems to be a work by Galal al-Din al-Suyuti (d. 911/1505), entitled al-Nafha al-Miskiyya, which is arranged in a similar way. The ingenuosity of the composition of the present work is only surpassed by al-Tuhfa al-Saniyya by `Abdallah Efendi al-Wassaf (published in Cairo, 1900).
Collective work with texts in columns containing (as seen from the right):
- Column 1. `Ilm al-`Arud.
- Column 3. Ta'rikh al-Dawla al-Rasuliyya. The author completed the compilation of this History on 2 Muharram 804/1401 in Ta`izz (ff. 58a-b). Since the present work is of historical contents, the author provided it quite appropriately with a date of compilation.

- Column 5. A treatise on Arabic grammar.
- Column 7. A treatise on rhyme.
- The work on Islamic law according to the Shafi`ite madhhab is found in columns 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 together, if read continuously.

On ff. 59a-b are juridical adagia in Arabic, taken from several different sources which are all indicated, and written in a hand different from the copyist's. On f. 60b is a fragment written in a different hand and taken from the work Magami` al-Haqa'iq wa-al-Qawa`id wa-Gawami` al-Rawa'iq wa-al-Fawa'id by Abu Sa`id M. b. Mustafa al-Kadimi (d. 1176/1762), GAL G II, 446.
Earlier provenance: There are two owners' notes:
- the vizir Mustafa Pasha Shahsuwarzada. He is possibly identical with the kapudanpasha of that name, who is mentioned in J. von Hammer's Geschichte (vol. 8, pp. 115, 135).
- `Aynizada al-sayyid Sulayman al-Qunawi, dated Friday 22 Safar <1>174/1760, with oval seal-print.

Or. 14.531
Arabic, paper, 53 ff., naskh script, date 1605, or 1805 or 1205?, recently-restaurated half-cloth binding.
Hadiqat al-Salat allati hiya Ra's al-`Ibadat*, commentary by Hasan Kafi al-Aqhisari (d. 1025/1616), GAL G II, 443 (see now also Jan Just Witkam, 'Hasan Kafi al-Aqhisari and his *Nizam al-`Ulama ila Khatam al-Anbiya', in MME 4 (1989), pp. 85-114), on a work entitled Mukhtasar al-Salat, a treatise on the legal conditions of the salat which was written by Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 449. The commentary was compiled in 996/1587-8 as is clear from Kafi's autobiography as it is published and translated in my above-mentioned article. In the present manuscript itself (f. 52b), however, the date of completion of the text is given as the last day of the third decade of Safar 998/1589. Ibn Kamal Pasha's text is identical with the work entitled Surut al-Salat (GAL G II, 451, No. 55) and is available in the present MS since it is indicated by red overlining. In the manuscript (f. 52b) it is given the title Talkhis al-Salat. On the title-page (f. 1a) the title of the commentary is given as Miftah al-Salat.
(Ar. 4448)

Or. 14.532
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 46 ff., naskh script, modern half-leather binding of Middle-Eastern manufacture. There are several notes and corrections in violet ink (ff. 7a, 8a, 18b, 22b, 39b, 43a) which might indicate that the present MS was used for an edition. The evidence is not overwhelming, however.
(1) ff. 1a-43a. Kitab Fath al-qadir bi-Sharh Hizb al-Shadhili al-Kabir, commentary by Hasan al-Madabighi al-Shafi`i (d. 1170/1757), GAL G II, 328, on al-Hizb al-Kabir, the prayer written by Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. `Abdallah al-Shadhili (d. 656/1258), GAL G I, 449. The text of the Hizb is identical to the one in MS Leiden Or. 1335 (5), see Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 117. The author of the commentary informs the reader (f. 1b) that he has based himself in writing the present commentary on the commentary written by his shaykh, M. b. `Abd al-Salam al-Bannani (d. 1163/1750) GAL S II, 686. The text of the Hizb is written in red ink, the commentary is in black ink.

(2) ff. 43a-46a. Tashgi` Salat Ibn Mashish (title on ff. 43a; on f. 46a: Sharh al-Salawat al-Mashishiyya. Anonymous commentary on the prayer of `Abd al-Salam Ibn Mashish (died c. 625/1228), GAL G I, 440, which bears the title I`anat al-Raghibin wal-Salam `ala Afdal al-Mursalin. The text of the prayer is, just as in the previous text, written in red, and the commentary in black ink.
(3) f. 46a. Du`a al-Qunut. Title on f. 46a. Short anonymous prayer.

Or. 14.533 - Or. 14.534
Arabic manuscripts, purchased by auction on 12 October 1978 at Christie's in London.

Or. 14.533
Arabic, paper, 5 + 1 volumes. ff., autograph., kept together in a composite box.
Kitab al-Muqaffa, by Taqi al-Din Ahmad b. `Ali al-Maqrizi (d. 845/1442), GAL G II, 39. See for parts from the same author's copy also Or. 1366 and Or. 3075, above, with their description in Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 240. The additions in cursive script are written by Ibn Hagar al-`Asqalani (d. 852/1449, GAL G II, 69), in whose possession the MS had apparently come after al-Maqrizi's death.
See on this MS also: J.J. Witkam, 'Discovery of a hitherto unknown section of the Kitab al-Muqaffa by al-Maqrizi', in: Quaerendo 9 (1979), 353-4, and id., 'Les autographes d'Al Maqrizi', in: Ahmed-Chouqui Binebine (ed.), Le manuscrit arabe et la codicologie. Rabat 1994, pp. 89-98. (Publications de la Faculté des Lettres et des Sciences Humaines, Rabat (Série: Colloques et séminaires No. 33)).
The manuscript was not used by Muhammad Ya`lawi for his edition, Kitab al-Muqaffa al-Kabir, Bayrut 1407/1987, as it was not yet restored at the time Ya`lawi was preparing his edition and for that reason not available for research. However, Ya`lawi used MS Istanbul (Süleimaniye Library), Pertev 496, which is in fact a copy of the manuscript which is now Leiden Or. 14.533.
The volume was Restored by Ms. Katinka Keus and Mr. Jeff Clement, book restaurators in Amsterdam ('Meridiaan'), who added a report of their work to this set.
¶ In the course of June 2007 Jan Just Witkam wrote the here following personal account on the acquisition of the manuscript and its earlier provenance:
The provenance of Or. 14.533 is by no means certain. As it is one of the most important acquisitions of the Leiden library during my curatorship, it may be useful to recall here from memory what had actually happened. It was acquired on October 12, 1978, by auction at Christie's in London. But what exactly happened before that is not very clear. Earlier in 1978 I was approached by an elderly Arab gentleman who asked me permission to have a look at the Leiden autograph manuscripts of al-Maqrīzī. As these were well-known (Or. 1366 and Or. 560) and as we often had scholarly tourism in the library, I brought out a few specimens of these highlights of the Leiden Arabic manuscripts collection. After having looked at al-Maqrīzī's peculiar handwriting, and after having listened at my resumé of arguments for the volumes of al-Muqaffā being an autograph, as Dozy had established with the help of the numerous colophons in Or. 560, he expressed his gratitude and confided to me that a manuscript which he had at home was certainly also an autograph by al-Maqrīzī. Without expressing too much interest I declared that it would be useful to international scholarship if we could make an exchange of microfilms. I did not even think of the possibility of acquiring the original. The gentleman did not show too much interest in this proposition, and he prepared to leave. As he left he presented the Leiden library with a copy of a work compiled by himself. It was an English-Arabic dictionary of medical terms and he also told me that he was a retired physician. This is how I now still know his name, Mahmoud Jalili. I never saw him again. The dictionary was incorporated in the Leiden collections, where it still is. It was a visit not unlike many others which we had.

In the course of September 1978 I received a telephone call from a lady working with Christie's in London, who wished to have it confirmed that a manuscript that was being offered to Christie's for auction was indeed an autograph manuscript by al-Maqrīzī. The vendor had referred her to the autographs in Leiden University Library. Could she, so she asked, come to Leiden tomorrow with a few photographs and have a look at the Leiden originals? Yes, of course she could, and I could not help recalling the recent visit of Mahmoud Jalili to Leiden. When she came the next day it was at once evident to me that she possessed photographs of an as yet unknown part of al-Maqrīzī's al-Muqaffā. I gave her the confirmation, but there and then I resolved to acquire for the Leiden library that manuscript, which she described as a pile of mostly unbound paper. The date of the auction at Christie's was set at 12 October 1978.

Before anything else, a sound strategy for this highly desirable acquisition had to be devised as I had become cinvinced by then that your colleagues are your worst enemies, a lesson which my professor of Arabic, Jan Brugman, had taught me long before and to which I had at first listened with unbelief. Soon I was to know better. I remembered so well how, only a year ago, I had tried to bid at one of Christie's auctions for a leaf of the so-called Blue Qurʾān. Then I had gone to London, after having complied with all the red-tape of Leiden University, which was imposed on the University Librarian by the Board of Directors of the University. On the very morning of that auction, however, one of the directors of the University had had cold feet and had personally contacted Christie's in order to withdraw my mandate. Later, when leaves of the Blue Qurʾān came in great demand and supply remained scarce, prices rose and never again the Leiden library has had the opportunity to purchase a leaf of that remarkable book from Qayrawān, although at the time many believed that the manuscript originated from Mashhad in Iran.

With this al-Maqrīzī manuscript this would not happen again, as far as I was concerned. There would only be one chance to get the manuscript in Leiden and I was not going to spoil that opportunity. While complying with the University's red-tape for costly acquisitions I avoided to feed my then superiors with too exact information. Nor did I disclose the address of my hotel in London to them. In the meantime I received letters from all corners of the world, from library directors and curators, who wished to have my confirmation about the authenticy of al-Maqrīzī autograph which was soon to be auctioned off. I decided to answer these letters only after my acquisition of the manuscript at Christie's lest I would be obliged to pay for my own knowledge as an added value to the manuscript. When the date of auction was approaching I travelled to London and conferred with my colleague in the British Library, Yasin Safadi, who might have knowledge about the situation which was not available to me. I was keen to learn from him whether there was more interest in this manuscript, from the British Library for instance, or from other parties. To my relief the British Library was not interested, nor did Safadi know of any other interests. I remember that he at that occasion showed a certain eagerness to find out my financial limits, but I had by then been long enough around in the world of the antiquarian book to know that that is a detail which one should never give away.

Then I arranged my credit facility with Christie's accountant, and the next day was the auction. I met with very little opposition and I got the manuscript for the round sum of £ 10,000. I forget the exchange rate between sterling and guilder at the time, but the sum was a mere trifle. Now that Leiden University was the legal owner of the manuscript I arranged for the transport. The bizarre details of the difficulties which I encountered in this respect before the freedom of movement of persons and goods between the member states of the European Union, and the way I solved these, can best be forgotten. Of course, I wrote a letter, through Christie's, to the vendor of the manuscript, but I never received an answer, and I will therefore never know for sure whether Mahmoud Jalili or someone from his circle was the previous owner.

Arabic, paper, 2 ff., naskh script, unbound, not old.
A fragment of three pages only of the beginning of this biographical work on scholars from Upper Egypt al-Tali` al-Sa`id li-Asma' Nukhaba' al-Sa`id, by Ga`far b. `Abdallah b. Tha`lab b. Ga`far b. `Ali b. al-Mutahhar b. Nawfal Kamal al-Din Abu al-Fadl al-Adfuwi al-Shafi`i (d. 748/1347), GAL G II, 31. The present fragment corresponds with the text in the edition by Sa`d Muhammad Hasan (Cairo, 1966), pp. 3-6. The text is on one sheet of paper, which apparently was never bound, and possibly never was part of a larger volume.
On f. 1a is the authors biography, taken from Kitab al-Muqaffa, by al-Maqrizi (d. 845/1442), GAL G II, 39. See the edition by M. Yalaoui (Muhammad Ya`lawi), Bayrut 1991, vol. 3, p. 36 (No. 1072).

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper (three types of paper: ff. 1-137, 142-146, 149-207), 207 ff., several copyists, in this convolute volume consisting of fragments of different dates and origins. From the different sorts of paper and sizes, and the different copyists and independent page-number systems, it becomes clear that the present volume was only composed by the binder. On the whole it can be said that the volume origates from North-Eastern Anatolia, as mention of the towns of Amasya and Merzifon in the colophons indicates. The texts were mostly written in three different hands, coinciding with the three different types of paper, all three of which may be designated as naskh script. Many more different hands left shorter notes and texts on the blank pages between the texts, in the margins and on the fly-leaves. So basically, three copyist are involved. Hand 1 on ff. 1b-137b, dated 1168/1754-5 (colophon on f. 23a), and Gumada I 1169/1756, with name of the copyist: Muhammad b. Hasan, and place of copying: the Sunquriyya madrasa in Amasiyya (Amasya, N.E. Anatolia, colophon on f. 49b), and Gumada II 1169/1756 in the Suquriyya madrasa in Amasiyya by Muhammad b. Hasan (colophon on f. 137b). Hand 2 on ff. 142b-146b, mixed nasta`liq: copyist is `Abd al-Latif. Hand 3 on ff. 149a-207a, Oriental handwriting with features of nasta`liq: copied in Merzifon on 28 Gumada II 971/1564 (colophon on f. 207a).

(1) ff. 1b-23a. The Hashiya by al-Sayyid al-Sharif `Ali b. Muhammad al-Gurgani (d. 816/1413), GAL G II, 216, on the Sharh by Muhammad b. Qutb al-Din M. al-Razi al-Tahtani (d. 766/1364), GAL G II, 209, on al-Risala al-Shamsiyya fi al-Qawa`id al-Mantiqiyya, the textbook on logic by Nagm al-Din `Ali b. `Umar al-Katibi (d. 675/1276 or 693/1294), GAL G I, 466. The work is written with the structure qala-aqulu. No title or author given in the manuscript. The text from maqala 2 till the end is available only. On f. 1a is a short indication of the author of the Hashiya, and also several notes in Turkish which are almost completely erased.
(2) ff. 25b-49b. Al-Risala al-Shamsiyya fi al-Qawa`id al-Mantiqiyya. The textbook on logic by Nagm al-Din `Ali b. `Umar al-Katibi (d. 675/1276 or 693/1294), GAL G I, 466. The title of the previously described book is misleadingly supplied here by a recent hand (f. 25b). On f. 30a is an abrupt end in the beginning of fasl 4 of maqala 1. Ff. 30b-33a are blank and were apparently destined to contain the remaining part of fasl 4. On f. 33b is the beginning of maqala 2, with a basmala of its own.
(3) ff. 51b-137b. The Sharh by Muhammad b. Qutb al-Din M. al-Razi al-Tahtani (d. 766/1364), GAL G II, 209, on al-Risala al-Shamsiyya fi al-Qawa`id al-Mantiqiyya, the textbook on logic by Nagm al-Din `Ali b. `Umar al-Katibi (d. 675/1276 or 693/1294), GAL G I, 466. The commentary on maqala's 2, 3 and the epilogue are available here only. The part of the commentary which precedes the present text is the 5th text in this magmu`a, but that part was written at a much earlier date (ff. 149a-207a).
(4) ff. 142b-146b. Al-Isaghugi. Title and author f. 142b. The textbook on logic by Athir al-Din al-Mufaddal b. `Umar al-Abhari (d. 663/1265), GAL G I, 464.
(5) ff. 149a-207a. The Sharh by Muhammad b. Qutb al-Din M. al-Razi al-Tahtani (d. 766/1364), GAL G II, 209, on al-Risala al-Shamsiyya fi al-Qawa`id al-Mantiqiyya, the textbook on logic by Nagm al-Din `Ali b. `Umar al-Katibi (d. 675/1276 or 693/1294), GAL G I, 466. The commentary on the introduction and the first maqala are available here only. As such the text is the complementing part to the third text in this volume, although it was copied at a much earlier date than that part. The first page of text appears to be lacking.

Photocopy of MS Istanbul, Süleymaniye Library, Karacelebizade No. 253, being al-Mukhtar fi Kashf al-Asrar wa-Hatk al-Astar, by `Abd al-Rahman b. `Umar al-Gawbari (c. 620/1223), GAL G I, 497. The printed Defter (Istanbul, n.d.) contains only manuscripts numbered 1-200 and does not mention this text. See also on this book Stefan Wild, 'Jugglers and fraudulent sufis', in: Proceedings of the VIth Congress of Arabic and Islamic Studies (Stockholm, etc., 1975) and C.E. Bosworth, The Mediaeval Islamic Underworld (Leiden 1976) I, pp. 106-118. The manuscript from which this copy was taken and the Leiden manuscript Or. 191 (cf. Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 227) are the two MSS which Wild says are the 'best and most complete' and on which Wild based, together with manuscript from Berlin and Istanbul, his projected edition of the text. This edition, however, does not seem to have appeared till now (August 2007). Superficial comparison between the Leiden and Istanbul manuscripts shows a divergence in the numbering of the chapters and considerable textual variants. Occasional damage in the original MS may be observed, and even entire leaves appear to be lacking (e.g. between ff. 5b-6a).

Javanese, Malay, about 100 loose leaves, Javanese, Arabic and Latin script, photocopies in portfolio.
Javanese (and some Malay) letters and reports, about 70 items, correspondence of Javanese princes, officers and regents with general H.M. de Kock (1779-1845), the commander-n-chief of the Dutch forces fighting the insurgent pangeran Dipa Nagara in the Java war. Most letters are dated in 1828 and 1829. The collection contains besides a majority of letters written in Javanese script also several Javanese and Malay letters written in Arabic script (pegon). Some of these were written by the Sultan of Sumenep who sided with the Dutch government. The idiom is the so-called bazar-Malay which was the popular means of communication in regions where Dutch political influence was strong. A small number of the Javanese letters is provided with Dutch paraphrases. The originals belong to the State Archives (Algemeen Rijksarchief) at The Hague, collection De Kock. The photocopies were made at the renguest of Dr. P.B.R. Carey, of Oxford, in about 1975, and were afterwards presented by him to the University library. Manuscripts purchased in March 1979 from Ms. Sonia Ewert, an antiques dealer in London.

Or. 14.541
Arabic, Persian, paper, 20 ff., the Arabic text in black ink, in naskh of calligraphic quality, the Persian text in red ink, in nasta`liq occasionally with features of shekaste, and neo-Kufi script (on f. 8a), sentences are divided by gold discs, simple illuminations over the beginning of each prayer, dated 1284/1867 and 1288/1871, copied by Nasr Allah al-Ahri (colophons on ff. 8a, 20a). He is the copyist of the naskh, the kufi and the nasta`liq calligraphy; full-leather Islamic binding with blind tooling.

A collection of prayers in Arabic, with interlinear Persian translation. Usually, no author or translator are mentioned. The Persian translation is a word for word translation, following the order of the words in the Arabic text. The enumeration of the twelve imams on f. 8a, and the incorporation of three munagat by the imam Zayn al-`Abidin on ff. 12a-20a and reference to him on ff. 5a and 6a points to a Shi`ite origin of the prayers. The manuscript makes the impression of originating from Iran. At the beginning of each prayer there is a note in Persian, written in the margin, explaining its purpose.
The volume contains:
(1) ff. 1b-5a. Du`a-yi Ya man tuhillu `inda al-Shada'id wa-al-Kurab. Title on f. 1b. Short anonymous prayer for times of distress. The Persian note in the margin of f. 1b. states that reciting this prayer after the morning and evening prayers protects against all afflictions.
(2) ff. 5a-6a. Ta`qib Namaz-i Farida. Title on f. 5a. According to the Persian note in the margin of f. 5a, this prayer originates from the Munagat of Sayyid al-Sagidin, with whom apparently the 4th imam, Zayn al-`Abidin (died c. 92/710 or 99/717), GAS I, pp. 526-528) is meant, since he has the epithet al-Saggad. The title suggests that it should be read after the obligatory prayer.
(3) ff. 6a-8a. Ta`qib Namaz-i Farida. Title on f. 6a. According to the Persian note in the margin of f. 6a, this prayer originates from the Munagat of Sayyid-i Sagidin, with whom apparently the 4th imam, Zayn al-`Abidin (died c. 92/710 or 99/717), GAS I, pp. 526-528, is meant, since he has the epithet al-Saggad. The title suggests that it should be read after the obligatory prayer.
(4) f. 8a. Asma'-yi A'imma `alayhim al-Salam. Title on f. 8a. A enumeration of the names of the twelve imams, with mention of the Prophet Muhammad and his daughter Fatima, written in neo-Kufic script. This is followed by the copyist's colophon.
(5) ff. 8b-10a. Ta`qib Namaz-i Farida. Title on f. 8b. According to the Persian note in the margin of f. 8b, this prayer contains all questions (matalib) of this world and of the hereafter. The title suggests that it should be read after the obligatory prayer.
(6) ff. 10a-12a. Ta`qib-i Fara'id. Title on f. 10a. In the margin of f. 10a there is a note in Persian, stating that the author of the prayer is sayyid-i Ibn Tawus, whom I have not identified. According to the same note, this prayer, which is said to be one of the most encompassing prayers, must be said in the month Ragab. The title suggests that it should be read after the obligatory prayers.
(7) ff. 12a-13b. Munagat-i Imam Zayn al-`Abidin. Title and author on f. 12a. Prayer, to be said after the obligatory prayers (Persian note in the margin of f. 12a), and ascribed to the imam `Ali b. al-Husayn b. `Ali b. Abi Talib Zayn al-`Abidin (died c. 92/710 or 99/717), GAS I, 526-528, where on p. 527 Munagat are mentioned.

(8) ff. 13b-17a. Munagat-i Imam Zayn al-`Abidin. Title and author on f. 13b. Prayer ascribed to the imam `Ali b. al-Husayn b. `Ali b. Abi Talib Zayn al-`Abidin (died c. 92/710 or 99/717), GAS I, 526-528, where on p. 527 Munagat are mentioned.
(9) ff. 17a-20a. Munagat-i Imam Zayn al-`Abidin. Title and author on f. 17a. Prayer ascribed to the imam `Ali b. al-Husayn b. `Ali b. Abi Talib Zayn al-`Abidin (died c. 92/710 or 99/717), GAS I, 526-528, where on p. 527 Munagat are mentioned.

Arabic, unidentified African language(s), paper, Sudani script, goatskin wrapper.
A collection of texts and fragments from West-Africa, possibly Nigeria. The texts are written by a number of different copyists. The gatherings of paper are kept in a wrapper made of goat skin, with two separate and losse boards made of the same material. In some of the texts are marginal and interlinear notes in an African language. To judge from the watermarks, several of the texts could have been copied early in the 19th century, or even at the end of the 18th century.
A. `Aqidat Ahl al-Tawhid al-Mukhriga bi-Hawl Allah min Zulumat al-Taqlid. Title on the verso side of the one but final leaf; author on ff. 1b-2a. The greater Creed (al-`Aqida al-Kubra) by Abu `Abdallah Muhammad b. Yusuf al-Sanusi al-Hasani (d. 892/1462), GAL G II, 250. The text as preserved here has several lacunae. The occurrence of the lacunae has been indicated by leaves of modern paper which are inserted instead of the missing leaf or leaves. It is not certain that the different bundles of leaves are presently kept in their correct order, since no manuscript or printed text of this `Aqida was available for comparison. The leaves have therefore not been numbered. MS on paper, dark-brown coloured; 87 unnumbered leaves, several sorts of manufacture, sometimes with traces of a watermark (crowned coat of arms) or counter-marks: (F 1814), but mostly of a mechanically made type; the year 1814 in the counter-mark would point to a comparatively early date for West-African materials, but the fact that also mechanically made paper was used would point to a somewhat later date in the 19th century. It could be maintained, however, that the MS was written in the first half of the 19th century; 20 x 14. cm (14 x 9); 6 lines to the pages, but occasionaly many more lines, in a much smaller handwriting; brown-black ink; almost fully vocalized West-African script, apparently by one copyist; the pages are abundantly filled with marginal and interlinear notes in Arabic, which for the greater part seem to have been written by the copyist as well; loose leaves and sheets; order of the leaves established by way of the catchwords. In the colophon on the last leaf the name of a copyist seems to be mentioned: Abakarida. Approximately halfway the text, there is a marginal note by the copyist telling that half of the book is completed. At the end, from the one but final leaf, verso page, onwards follows the colophon, which I could not decipher in an entirely satisfactory way.
B. Ida'a al-Dugunna li-Kawniha I`tiqad Ahl al-Sunna. Author on f. 1a; title on f. 2b and f. 45a. Urguza on the fundamentals of Islamic dogmatics by Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Maqqari al-Tilimsani (d. 1041/1631), GAL G II, 296. One lacuna in the text, due to the loss of one or more leaves (between ff. 35-36). MS on paper; 45 ff.; 18 x 15.5 cm (12 x 10); usually 6 lines to the page; almost fully vocalized West-African script, apparently by one copyist; numerous marginal and interlinear notes, in a number of different hands; brown-black ink with occasional red outlining; loose leaves; catchwords on every verso side; copied by Muhammad b. Muhammad Daram for the owner `Umar b. al-Khattab (f. 45a). F. 22b is blank, but there seems to be no loss of text. On ff. 29a and 31a are two fusul without title. On f. 45a is the end, and follows the colophon. On f. 45b is a short prayer, in a hand different from the copyist's.

C. Untitled treatise by Abu `Abdallah Muhammad b. Yusuf al-Sanusi al-Hasani (d. 892/1486), GAL G II, 250, on the knowledge of God and the Prophets, which every believer must have. Author is mentioned on ff. 1b-2a. MS on paper; watermark: coat of arms, similar to the group shown by Heawood (Nos. 441-450), but without the texts in the border of the circle (such as Heawood Nos. 446, 447); counter-mark: T FRENCH; the watermark and corner-mark would point to a date of copying late in the 18th century or early in the 19th century; 20 ff.; 18.5 x 15 cm (12 x 8); 5 lines to the page; brown-black ink; almost fully vocalized West-African script by one copyist, Muhammad Adu (?, see f. 20a); numerous marginal and interlinear notes; loose leaves; order of the leaves is maintained by repetition of the last word of the verso page on the next-following recto page. On f. 20b is a description of an amulet text and of the way to handle it, in order to cause a woman to become pregnant. At the bottom of the page, the first aya of surat al-nisa' (Qur'an 4:1) is written.

D. Umm al-Barahin. No title; author on ff. 1a-b. The smaller Creed (al-`Aqida al-Sughra, or al-Sanusiyya) by Abu `Abdallah Muhammad b. Yusuf al-Sanusi al-Hasani (d. 892/1462), GAL G II, 250. The final part of the text is lacking. MS on paper; 16 ff.; 21 x 16.5 cm (15 x 12); 7 lines to the page; almost fully vocalized West-African script; numerous marginal and interlinear notes, mostly in Arabic; brown ink, with occasional outlining in red; loose leaves and sheets; catchwords on every verso page; indication of the middle of the work on ff. 13a,b.

E. Kitab al-Tawhid. Title on ff. 8b-9a; no author mentioned. Work on the divine attributes, followed by two shorter texts. MS on paper; unidentified watermark; 10 ff.; 19 x 15.5 cm (15 x 11); 6 lines to the page; almost fully vocalized West-African script, by one copyist; brown ink; numerous marginal and interlinear notes, in several hands; 5 sheets; order of the sheets is maintained by repetition of the last word of the last verso page of each sheet on the next-following recto page. On ff. 9a-b is a short model text for a marriage contract. On ff. 10-b is an enumeration of five prophets who have never in their long lives acted in disobedience of God. They are Yusa` (sic) b. Nun, Kalaqil, Yahya b. Zakariya, Idris and Samasun. The text is incomplete at the end.

F. Hadith al-Nahy. Title on f. 1a; on f. 7a a title is given as Hadith al-Nahy al-Nahin (?). An anecdote, related on the authority of the Prophet Muhammad, concerning a discussion of the Prophets Musa and Yusa` (sic) on amr and nahy in connection with wordly possessions. The text has evidently a connection with the Qisas al-Anbiya' genre. MS on paper; watermark: crowned circle; counter-mark: HB; 7 ff.; 18.5 x 15 cm (15 x 11); 12-16 lines to the page; West-African script; brown ink; loose sheets and leaves; catchwords on the verso and recto pages; copied by Muhammad (f. 7a); on f. 1a is short marginal note in a language other than Arabic. On f. 7a is the end: the copyist concludes with a short prayer in which part of Qur'an 4:164 is quoted. f. 7b. Blank.

G. Untitled and anonymous collection of sayings on the virtues of knowledge (`ilm). MS on paper; counter-mark: J Benson & Co; 4 ff.; 18.5 x 15 cm (11.5 x 10.5 cm); 5 lines to the page; brown ink with ocassional red outlining; almost fully vocalized West-African script by one copyist; numerous marginal and interlinear notes; order of the leaves is maintained by repetition of the last word of the verso page on the next-following recto page. On f. 4b: First lines only of a prayer, written in another hand.
H. Short text on the subjects of sale, lease and hire according to Islamic law. The text is incomplete at the end, due to missing leaves. MS on paper; 2 ff.; 19 x 15 cm (15 x 11.5); 11-12 lines to the page; brown ink; partially vocalized West-African script; marginal and interlinear notes, in several hands, some on which are in a language different from Arabic; one sheet; catchwords on each verso page. On f. 4b abrupt end.
I. Short note (fa'ida) in which the believers are disadvised to drink from a certain tree which has been watered with the urine of Iblis, an action which is said to be even worse than the drinking of wine. The fa'ida is presented as a Prophetic hadith which is transmitted by `Ali b. Abi Talib (f. 1a). The Arabic shows numerous breaches of the rules of classical orthography. MS on paper; 2 ff.; 21.5 x 17 cm (20 x 15.5); 11 lines to the page; brown ink; almost fully vocalized West-African script; 2 loose leaves, of which it is not clear whether they contain a continuous text; the fragment appears to be written by someone with the name Muhammad and one or more non-Arabic names which could not easily be identified (f. 2b).
J. Two short notes: one on the virtue of knowledge, the other being a fa'ida ascribed to Mansur b. `Ammar (end 2nd/8th century), GAS I, 637-638, on the search for knowledge, with a magical square. MS on paper; one sheet; 170 x 220 mm; 11 and 6 lines of text; brown ink; West-African script.
K. Short note, containing the beginning only of a description of the Paradise (Sifat al-Ganna), beginning with a quotation from Qur'an 13:35. MS on paper; 1 leaf; 17 x 11 cm; 13 and 3 lines; partially vocalized West-African script; brown ink, vowels written in red.
L. Amulet text containing magical names with which one should rub one's face in order to obtain protection against evil. MS on paper; 1 f.; 17 x 11.5 mm; 9 and 10 lines; continuous and complete text; black ink; almost fully vocalized West-African script; it seems that the spelling kala is used in the same meaning as qala.
M. Collection of 4 fragments, which could not be fitted with any of the previously described texts. There are 3 smaller fragments, two of which fit together, and one larger fragment. The latter is in fact a leaf of carton (measuring c. 18.5 x 15 cm), composed of a number of leaves of paper, which seem to contain text. One side displays the beginning of a text, which could not be identified, however.

Or. 14.582
Arabic, with some Turkish, paper, 255 ff., naskh script, 'an old manuscript' (14th century?), full-leather Islamic binding, possibly original. A considerably damaged and worn book.
Volume III of an as yet unidentified Tafsir. The volume covers the exegesis from surat Maryam (Qur'an 19) till surat al-Zukhruf (Qur'an 43), hence it is the third volume of a four-volume set.
Each explanation of a sura begins with the mention of the number of words and letters in that sura. It is not the Lubab al-Ta'wil fi Ma`ani al-Tanzil by al-Khazin [8003 A 11-14], which does indeed mention these numbers.
Owners' notes on f. 1a:
- al-Shaykh Mahmud b. `Ali Gawush, the Khalifat Tariqat Qutb al-`Arifin al-Shaykh al-Sayyid `Ali al-Samarqandi, Bursa, end Gumada II 1035, with seal prints.
- `Abd Al-Ghani, known as Shaykhzada, Dhu al-Qa`da 1106.
- Hasan b. Muhammad b. Mahmud al-Sidqi, 1160.
¶ On the lower edge a title might be read as: Tafsir al-Imam al-Tha`labi ... (?). If this reading is correct, this work would be Kitab al-Kashf wal-Bayan `an Tafsir al-Qur'an by Abu Ishaq Ahmad b. Muhammad b. Ibrahim al-Tha`labi al-Nisaburi al-Shafi`i (d. 427/1035), GAL G I, 350. MS Princeton 639 H (Catalogue Hitti, p. 385, No. 1255) begins with surat al-Zukhruf, but the (very short) quotation given by Hitti does not confirm this conjecture. This needs further research.
Added: slip of paper with a prayer in semi-literate Turkish.

Illuminated and illustrated (2 miniatures) selection of Qur'anic *sura*s and a prayer. Manuscript from Iran. Qur'anic texts in Arabic, prayers also in Persian.
The volume contains:
Surat al-Waqi`a (56, ff. 1b-9a), followed by a prayer in Persian (f. 9a);
Two miniatures (ff. 9b-10a);
Surat al-Naba' (78, ff. 10b-14b);
Surat al-Muzammil (73, ff. 14b-18b);
Surat al-Gumu`a (62, ff. 18b-21b);
Surat al-Qadr (97, ff. 21b-22a).
On ff. 22b-27a is, under the heading Surat al-Fatihat al-Kitab, a prayer in which several angels are invoked and in which ayat from Surat al-Fatiha are used. The angels invoked are: f. 22b: Duqba'il, f. 23a: Gibra'il, f. 23b: Sama'il , f. 24a: Mika'il, f. 25a: Sarqail, f. 25b: `Ayna'il, f. 26a: `Azra'il.

The two miniatures on ff. 9b-10a belong to the book and are not recently made overpaintings. Each miniature displays an elegant young man in coloured clothes standing in a landscape. All plants are executed in gold. The young men wear a flaming nimbus. The air around their heads is filled with flying flames. It may be surmised that they represent the Shiite imams `Ali and Husayn. Or. 14.599
Collective volume with texts in Turkish, Arabic, with some Persian, paper, 54 ff., naskh script from different copyists, and other scripts, illustrations (tables, drawings), leather binding.
Notebook with several shorter texts. The first folio is filled with many notes, lists, a recipe, numbers, partly in siyaqat script, and calculations. A number of short Persian sentences refer to historical events: the departure for Hasan Pasha to Cyprus, 23 Sha`ban 1212 (10 February 1798); the departure of 'our mother' by ship, 15 Dhu al-Qa`da 1214 (10 April 1800); 'she left the village of Arnavud', 18 Dhu al-Qa`da (13 April 1800); and 'the French ambassador [Ruffin] was imprisoned in Yedikule and they found important papers in the [French] Palace', Rabi`I 1214 (September 1799), see Danişmend, Kronoloji IV, p. 76. (f. 1a). One of the administrative notes on f. 1b is dated 17 Gumada I [1]218 (4 September 1803).
A considerable proportion of the texts are of a magical nature, often containing prayers. In this category we find an Arabic Hizb ascribed to the Imam an-Nawawi, which is Hizb al-Nawawi, the Prayer by Yahya b. Sharaf al-Nawawi (d. 676/1278), GAL G I, 397 (ff. 2b-3a); talismanic text fragments in Arabic with magic squares, preceded by Turkish headings and instructions (f. 4a), to ward off evil spells, avoid headaches and other ailments (ff. 4a-5a); an Arabic recipe for curing urinary retention, followed by a Turkish talismanic text (f. 11a); magical prescriptions for exerting power and warding off thieves (f. 12a); Arabic and Turkish talismanic prescriptions, with drawings, for arousing love, realizing one's desires, and other purposes (ff. 12b-16a, 17a); and a prescription for the magical use of Koranic texts (f. 21a). To the same category belongs a brief anonymous treatise on the protective properties of the names of God and the magic circle called Gunnat al-Asma', 'invented' by the Imam al-Ghazzali (Abu Hamid Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Ghazzali (d. 505/1111), GAL G I, 420) with two drawings (ff. 17b-19b). Another copy of this text is Or. 11.785 (7), above.
Also a list of magic words (f. 20a); and an Arabic treatise on the Stone of Wisdom (ff. 30a-b),
Some texts are of the astrological genre: a brief treatise on the division of the signs of the Zodiac (Mintaqat al-Burug) (ff. 27b-29a); horoscopes for the dates of 3 Shawwal 1188 (7 December 1774, with a marginal note on the death of Shaykh Mustafa, post-nishin of the tekke of Çālāk, on 5 Dhu al-Qa`da 1220/25 January 1806) and 26 Sha`ban 1212 (13

February 1798), the birth date of Nefise - according to a marginal note, she died on 4 Ramadan 1217 (29 December 1802, f. 31a); astrological calculations with Arabic explanations (ff. 31b-33a); a Turkish prescription for drawing an astrological table (f. 33b); and a horoscope dated 22 Dhu al-Higga [1]214 (17 May 1800, f. 41a).
Recipes also hold an important place. They are: for various types of ink and vinegar (ff. 6b-7a); a prescription and recipe for treatment of chest tightness (f. 20b); for oils, ambergris, various types of ink, and drinks (ff. 21a-23b); for candle oil and ink (f. 27a); for red ink (f. 29b); for perfume (f. 40a); for verdigris, barsh, eye ointment, and various other medicines (ff. 51b-53a). Almost all are in Turkish.
Finally we find: tables showing the equivalents of (supposedly) Hebrew and Rumi letters (f. 5b); a table comparing weights of various substances (f. 6a); a list with three items and amounts (of money?), Istanbul, [1]218 (1803-4, f. 6b); a hemistich of a chronogram, dated 24 Sha`ban [1]218 (9 December 1803, f. 6b); an incomplete Arabic sentence (f. 8a); drawings of intersecting circles (ff. 9a-10a) relating to the mechanism of striking clocks (çalar sa`at); an Arabic text fragment on the letters of the alphabet found in the Koran (f. 11b); an Arabic prayer (f. 20a); a series of rhythms consisting of the syllables tek and düm to be used in the cadences (usul) of various metres and types of song, followed by a description of various sequences and a circular table of makams (ff. 24a-25b); descriptions of the use of *maqam*s for varying musical instruments (ff. 26a-b); a table with musical terms and names of compositions and players (f. 48b); a prescription for the use of various *maqam*s at various hours of the day (f. 52a); and a list with various goods and numbers, and the name of Isma`il b. Umiyya (f. 53b).
The above description was derived from Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts, vol. 3 (2006), pp. 475-478, where there is also a reproduction of f. 5b on p. 476, and one of ff. 12b-13a on p. 478.

English, of Arabic interest, paper, [6], 204, 99, 146, [10] pp., Latin script, full-leather European binding with label on spine, reading: 'Religion of the Turks'.
'The Religion or Theology of the Turks. By Echialle, Mufti. With the Profession of Faith of Mahomet the Son of Pir Ali. Translated from the Arabick into French and from the French into English. By John Farrington of Clapham. In three Parts. 1752.' The French original text from which this English translation was made was probably Religion ou théologie des Turcs [par] Echialle Mufti. Avec la profession de foi de Mahomet fils de Pir Ali. Bruxelles 1704 [409 F 3].
¶ This is apparently the (indirect) English translation of two Arabic works.
Parts 1-2. This is apparently the Hashiya Sharh al-`Aqa'id, the gloss by Ahmad b. Musa al-Khayali (d. after 862/1458) on the commentary by Sa`d al-Din Mas`ud b. `Umar al-Taftazani (d. 792/1390) on al-`Aqa'id by Nagm al-Din `Umar b. Muhammad al-Nasafi (d. 537/1142), GAL G I, 427. Still to be compared with MS Leiden Or. 963 (2), and Or. 11.550 (1), above.
Part 3. This is apparently the Testament of Birgeli, the Wasiyya, or Wasiyyatnama, by Muhammad b. Pir `Ali al-Birkawi (Birgeli, d. 981/1573) GAL G II, 440, but comparison with the Turkish text does not confirm this, or the translation has become so free in the process that it has become unrecognizable.

Persian, paper; 79 ff., nasta`liq script, dated Sha`ban 1143/1731 (colophon on f. 78a), there seems to be a lacuna between ff. 47-48, illustrations (63 erotic miniatures), European bibliophile leather binding with gilded ornaments.
Kitab Ladhdhat al-Nisa'.
The illustrations of a comparable work from India are anonymously published as Tantra. Devozioni amorose. Introduzione di Gabriele Mandel. Milano 1978.
The pictures of women and men are rather stereotype, and no very distinctive personal features are shown. They look like types rather than individuals. Copulating partners are always depicted with different skin colours, which facilitates getting an insight in positions. The miniatures' main purpose is making the positions clearly visible. The lovers usually have some rudimentary clothing still left on their bodies. The sexual act often takes place on a carpet or matrass, and usually a pillow is lying under the woman's head and shoulders. The woman's hand palms and foot soles are always dyed with henna. The woman has always her jewelry on arms, hands and head, the man always wears headgear. The introductory chapters (f. 3b-28a) contain information about medical aspects of sexuality, treating among other things medicines and aphrodisiacs. The 18th chapter (dar tarz-i gima`, from f. 28a onwards) contains a great number of miniatures of copulations, with explanations, arranged according to the author's classification. The miniatures are done in a precise and expert way. The backgrounds are stereotype. Often the miniatures differ from what is explained in the text, which leads to thinking that the miniaturist had only second-hand knowledge of the contents of the text.

Between ff. 47b-48a there seems to be a lacuna in the manuscript, probably of one folio only, whereby two miniatures are missing. On one of the missing pages there must have been the beginning of a new section, apparently treating copulation in a standing position (Nos. 39-47).
f. 48a. [39]. The woman is standing upright, facing a wall. Her hands touch the wall. Her lover stands close to her and copulates with her from behind. He holds her right shoulder and her left breast with his hands.

hand he holds her back. She has slung her left arm over his shoulder and holds her right arm on her own waist.
Here is the end of the chapter on the different positions. On f. 53b starts the 8th chapter containing a number of risqué and love arousing stories, taken from a work entitled Dhakha'ir- Hukama'-yi Hind (f. 54a, line 2). Most of the stories are told by young (slave) girls in a session presided over by a prince. Needless to say that all stories end in copulation. These copulations are shown in the following miniatures.
f. 55a. [48].Homosexual copulation by two men. One of them is dressed in an effeminate way and has the female role. His hands and feet are dyed with henna. He is crouching on a cushion and allows his lover to copulate with him behind. The miniature illustrates an anecdote about the vizir Qutb al-Din from the time of the Abbasid caliph al-Mu`tadid (reigned 279-289 / 892-901).
f. 56b. [49].The story of the young slave girl and the young merchant. The woman is lying on her back, her head and shoulders resting on a pillow. She has spread her legs and rests her feet against the shoulders of her lover. He is sitting in front of her and copulates with her. He holds her shoulder with his right hand and she holds his back with her left hand. With her right hand she touches his instep and ankle.
f. 57b. [50].The story of the young girl and the young man. The woman is lying on her back, her head and shoulders resting on a pillow. She has spread her legs. Her lover is sitting in front of her and copulates with her. She lets her arms rest on the pillow. He fondles her left breast. She holds her left foot against his right shin. They look into one another's eyes.
f. 58b. [51].The romance of the lady with the groom. The woman is lying on her back, her head and shoulders resting on a pillow. She has spread her legs and holds them in the air, thus allowing her lover, who is sitting on his knees in front of her, to copulate with her. With her right hand she rests on the carpet, with her left hand she holds his shoulder. He embraces her torso.
f. 59b. [52].The story of the young girl and the young man. The woman is lying on her left side, her hands clutching around a pillow. She has spread her legs. Her lover is sitting on his heels and copulates with her from behind. He fondles her breasts. With his right knee he supports her right knee hollow.
f. 60a. [53].The story of the slave girl and the young man. The woman is lying on her right side, her arms and legs folded against her belly. Her lover is sitting over her and copulates with her from behind. He holds her right hand on her right shoulder. He kisses her left cheek.
f. 61a. [54].The story of the slave girl and the young man. They have encountered during a visit to graves, Ziyarat al-Qubur. The woman is lying on her right side, her arms and legs folded to her body. Her lover copulates with her from behind and fondles her nippIes.
f. 62a. [55]. The story of the slave girl and the young man. The woman is lying on her back, supported by a pillow under her head and shoulders. She has spread her legs and holds these in the air. Her lover sits and lies on top of her and copulates with her. He supports her neck and holds her shoulder. She caresses his shin.

f. 63a. [56].The story of the warden's daughter and the prisoner. The woman is lying on her right side and has spread her legs. Her lover copulates with her while sitting in front and somewhat over her. She holds her left leg in the air. He embraces her and kisses her. With his right hand he caresses her left knee.
Then follow several other stories of frivolous nature. Common theme in these is that someone is asked to tell about his (her) preferred way of love-making.
f. 66a. [57].The story of the old woman and the young lover. The old woman (`aguz) is lying on her back, with her head and shoulders resting on a pillow. She has spread her legs and keeps these in the air. Her young lover is sitting in front of her and copulates with her. He fondles her old woman's breasts.
f. 68a. [581 Why some women prefer to make love to women (sahq). The two women are sitting, facing one another, both resting on a pillow. One has spread her legs and the other is sitting between these. They rub their pudenda against one another. They also rub their breasts. They are sitting in embrace with one arm each, and look into one another's eyes. A European owner has written, in English, underneath the miniature: 'I would if I could'.
f. 70a. [59].The story of Hasan, the qanun player, and the three women. The woman is lying on her back, resting her head and shoulders on a pillow. In her right hand she holds a lute. She has spread her legs and allows her lover who is sitting in front of her to copulate with her. He seems to play with her body as if it were his instrument.
f. 75a. [60].The story of the married woman and the Abyssinian slave. The woman is lying on her back, her head and shoulders supported by a pillow. She has spread her legs and keeps her right leg in the air. Her black lover is sitting in front of her and copulates with her. He holds his hands around her head and kisses her cheek. She has slung her left leg around his back.
f. 76a. [61].The story of the thieves in the might and the old couple. One of the thieves is copulating with the old woman. She is lying on her back, her head and shoulders supported by a pillow. She has spread her legs. The thief sits in front of her and copulates with her. He holds her old woman's breasts in his hand. She rests her left hand on his shoulder. The old husband is sleeping on his bed. The goat of the old couple is standing nearby.
f. 77a. [62]. Medical observations on copulation. Aflatun and Harith b. Kalada (see GAS III, 203-4) are mentioned. The text is illustrated with a miniature of a copulating couple. The woman is sitting on her heels. Her lover is sitting close to her left side and back and copulates with her from behind. She rests the hollow of her knee on his knee. Their left legs are interlocked. With her right hand she supports her head. She holds her left arm stretched out in the air, behind her lover's neck. He fondles her breasts. They kiss.
f. 77b. [63]. Final illustration in the book, belonging to a paragraph on the properties that women love in men. The woman lies on her back, her head and shoulders resting on a pillow. She has spread her legs and holds her high in the air, almost against her shoulders. Her lover is sitting in front of her and copulates with her. He supports her head with his right hand and holds her chin with his left hand. She holds his back with her left hand. They kiss.

¶ The relationship between this text, and texts of the genre Ladhdhat al-Nisa' still needs to be investigated.

Persian, paper, 6 ff., nasta`liq script, with gadawil, all within golden and coloured frames, apparently a luxury copy. A later owner has taken care to make illegible the name of the copyist, the date of copying, the name of the person who commissioned the manuscript, and two square owner's seals.
A compilation meant to be used as an introduction to the Shahnama of Firdawsi. In the beginning (ff. 1b-3a) the work is styled Mukhtasar (f. 1b) and gives a chronology, from Adam till 'this time', including lists of names of ancient Persian kings. On ff. 3a-4a follows a Fihrist-i Padishahan, also called Kitab Fihrist-i Shahnama. Then (ff. 4a-6b) follows a glossary to Pahlawi and other difficult words occurring in the Shahnama, entitled Kitab Lughat al-Furs-i Shahnama, or shortly Lughat-i Shahnama. It is alphabetically arranged from alif to ya'. In the colophon the purpose is once more explained as to facilitate the reading of the histories of the kings of the past, especially Firdawsi's Shahnama. A similar compilation seems to be available in MS London, IOL, Cat. Ethé No. 861, where it precedes the text of the Shahnama, after the pre-Baysunghur introduction.

Photocopy of MS Manchester, John Rylands University Library, Batak 2. See Ricklefs & Voorhoeve, p. 15. Source: a print of microfilm A 701 in the Leiden Library. The original manuscript is a pustaha, with a chain of transmission of fifteen links, beginning with Datu Si Poga at the other end of the ocean, and ending with Datu Pangsa Ni Aji. It is nearly identical to the chain of transmission in MS Amsterdam, KIT 543 (2).
Added: Typewritten description in English by P. Voorhoeve (3 pp.), which is here fully quoted (with the silent correction of a few typing errors).
Manchester. John Rylands University Library. MS Batak 2, Pustaha, 55 leaves, 6 x 11 cm. Two wooden covers.

A 1 blank.
A 2 Poda ni pamusatan sipiuan na bolon, 'succinct instructions about sipiuan na bolon' is the title of the whole text. Instead of sipiuan one often finds si lali piuan; in this text b 48, pangurason ni li piuan apparently should be ni lali piuan. Lali means kite (the bird of prey) and according to Van der Tuuk puyuan, (the sub-Toba form of piuan) is the name of a kind of kite. Winkler explains this name (in the new edition of Warneck's dictionary) as referring to the circling movements of the bird, for mamiu means to twine and piuan is an instrument used to twine rope. Most texts on sipiuan na bolon have the title Poda ni pagar lali sipiuan or pagar si lali piuan, instructions for protective magic called lali sipiuan, or si lali piuan. Si lali piuan is also one of the names of the cock in the manuk gantung, divination from signs in the inside of a chicken whose breast is cut open. In our manuscript there is only one short paragraph (b24-26) on pagar ni sipiuan, protective magic (used in war) of (i.e derived from) sipiuan. The main functions of the sipiuan in our text, however, are alamat, divination from omens, end panuruni, directing astrological powers towards the enemy, in order to do him harm. The most characteristic magical device connected with the sipiuan is a long bamboo pole on which the names of former masters of magic are written. This is called pagar and panuruni in our text, and pagar only in most of the other texts.

The text consists of the following paragraphs:
a2-12 an exceptionally long chain of transmission of 15 names. The first 10 names agree with the first part of a prayer (tonggo-tonggo) to former masters in another text on sipiuan no bolan (MS Princeton Batak 36) and with the first part of the chain of transmission of a poda ni parombunan (see below) in MS Amsterdam, Tropical Institute 543/2, There are some minor differences in the order of the names in these three texts. It seems probable that this in a traditional list of names of 'Masters of yore' and that the real chain of transmission of this text begins with the 11th name. The 14th name is Ompu ni Mahonda ni aji Guru Manungsang. Van der Tuuk borrowed a Pustaha from Naipospos which was written for a Guru Manungsang ni aji of the marga Hutauruk in Bulu Laga; this may have been the same man. He was the teacher of Datu Pangsa ni aji, for whom our MS was written.
a12-13 Diagrams for divination. There is a figure in the shape of a V with three heads with the names of three signs of the zodiac: mesa, singa and mahara, and a table of 7 x 7 squares, some with the word musu, enemy. Page a13 is divided into four compartments by two crossing lines; the right hand upper quarter is divided in two by another line. The compartments have inscriptions, mentioning the offerings to the five pormamis. Their order is not the usual one but mamis, sori, hala, borma, bisnu; the inscriptions for borma and bisnu are incomplete because these two share one quarter of the page. Cf. below b47-48.
a 14-15 The jingle for the seven days which is sometimes called tabas ni pamahani, the feeding-incantation, with the special food which should be offered to each of the spirits of the days; cf. the Copenhagen catalogue p. 170. The tabas is: aritia hatebas, suma palehang-lehang, anggara putori hijo, muda morhata jadi, boraspati morhuta (sic, probably an error because it spoils the rhythm) sarindang-rindang, singkora morsijamuning, samisara sobaho sisip, (the last two words very unclear; possibly sobok husip).
a 15-36 Poda ni pormesa na sampulu dua, the usual text on the signs of the zodiac, with drawings.
a 36-47 Poda ni panggaroda na uwalu, the usual text on the eight animals of the main directions, with drawings.
a 48-54 are almost blank; there are only some vague lines.
a 55 is glued to the cover
b 1 blank.
b 2-22 Poda ni parombunan ni sipiuan na bolon, on divination from signs in the clouds. First the ingredients of an offering are enumerated; these are dedicated to the sombaon (spirits of holy places) and the gods, among whom Debata Hasi-hasi is specially mentioned.

When the offering is complete the datu utters a prayer (morsombaiyang)to the Three Gods, to Tuan di Baginda Alim, to Ompu Ayam na Bolon from the underworld, to Patuan Raja Babi (the king with a pig's head; see OVB no. 248), Tuan di Batu Ruyung, Patuan Raja Rum Raja Baris (this seems to be one person) and Patuan Raja ni Pinang kabo. After some illegible lines the prayer is continued; here the names of the gods of the main directions are mentioned. All these powers are asked for sangap, badia and panuruni. At the end the prayer is called tonngo ni paralamaton, a prayer for true omens (from the forms of clouds). A list of signs in the clouds with drawings fills b10-22.
b22-24 Poda ri saitanta, on an amulet made from a boar's tusk (sait).
b24-27 Poda ni pagar ni sipiuan, the protective magic for which a bamboo pole of thirty internodes is erected, inscribed with the Majesty of the Masters (badia ni gurunta). This part of the text has its own chain of transmission; Guru Pinayungan ni aji taught it to Guru Salamat ni aji (no.12 in the long pedigree in the first part of the text) and so on until Datu Pangsa ni aji.
b27 A short paragraph belonging to the parombunan text (pangambangi ni parombunan).
b28-29 Some additional paragraphs on the pagar.
b29 Poda ni panuruni ni lali piuan. This title probably covers the last part of the text which ends abruptly on b52 with the words: i ma pangalaho ni pa ..., these are the methods of pa(nuruni?). however, the pagar is also mentioned several times. For the first panuruni the ginagat (fodder) and porsili (substitutes) of the lali piuan are put in an earthen pot. This pot is put in a sangkak, a bamboo pole with the top split in the shape of a hen's nest. Human figures are drawn on the bamboo. It is put on the left side of the village gate. The warriors spit into the pot when they leave the village. (b29-30).
For the second panuruni a tube is made by piercing the nodes of a bamboo pole 30 internodes long. The names of former masters are written on the bamboo, which is filled with the signs of the zodiac etc. (probably with drawings made on leaves) and erected towards the enemy's village. At the foot of the bamboo an earthen terrace like a grave (tambak) is made. (b30-31).
On page b 40 an offering of a black chicken is described. Its head should point to the east (purba), its tail to the west (apotan), its right wing to Angkola, its left wing to Toba; its body should be in the middle of the village. On b47-48 there is a prayer to the spirits of the five periods of the day, They are invoked by the same names that were mentioned above (a12-13) but here the series is complete: si Aji Mamis Datu Salin ni Aji, si Aji Bisnu Datu Putor ni Aji, si Aji Sori Naga Jungjung ni Aji, si Aji Hala Datu Talpok ni Aji, si Aji Borma Boru Sibaso Bolon. The last part of the text is an incantation (mintora) against bullets, which contains many Malay words and expressions, It ends abruptly on b52.
b53-54 are blank; b55 was glued to the wooden oover but it is now loose.

PREFACE TO VOLUME TWENTY

This is not a catalogue, nor a handlist. It is just what is says to be on the title-page, an inventory. The present volume contains the inventory, or in more simple words, the list of all acquisitions of Oriental manuscript materials in the Library of Leiden University, which entered the Library between January 1984 and May 1988. This choice of period is determined by nothing else than the fact that the present volume comprises one thousand items, which are registered as Or. 19.001 till Or. 20.000 in the 'Journaal', the handwritten inventory of the Legatum Warnerianum, which is kept by the curators in the Library. As such it is the twentieth volume of a projected multi-volume inventory of the collections of Oriental manuscripts in Dutch collections. The volumes which have the inventory of the Legatum Warnerianum will each contain information on a thousand manuscripts.
A few words of explanation may be added to this. For a long while the 'Journaal' of the Legatum Warnerianum was a tool of retrieval for the Oriental collections, mostly for lack of anything better. It contains, with a varying degree of detail, basic bibliographical information about the new acquisitions. The most important elements of such a registration are the (unchangeable) class-mark (in the Or.-series), the shelf-mark (which only serves the purpose of finding the manuscript in the stacks), the language of the manuscript, and some detail about its content. In addition, the provenance of the material was noted, and often also the price paid. Especially these last mentioned elements were deemed to be confidential, at least for some time. The successive directors of the Leiden library were of the opinion that if such trade information were made available to the public it might jeopardize the negotiating position of the Library, which itself is a player of some importance on the antiquarian market. Making the names of the suppliers to the Library public, was their opinion, would attract competitive individuals to those same suppliers, and could make it more difficult for the Library to conclude a deal.
When I advised the University Librarian, in the course of 1977, for precisely these reasons to close the 'Journaal' for the public, it was immediately felt that an alternative tool should be created, as it was feared that an increasing part of the collection would become unavailable for the readers in the Legatum Warnerianum.
Several larger cataloguing projects have been undertaken since then. I only need to refer to the catalogues of manuscripts in Hebrew (1977), Batak (1977), Javanese (1980), Arabic (ongoing since 1982), Balinese (1986-1987), Acehnese (1994), Malay (1998, 2007, two volumes published so far), Turkish (2000-2006, three volumes published so far), and a few more projects are on the brink of completion. However, all of these catalogues have features that are different, depending on the nature of the materials described and the bibliographical requirements within a specific field of study. And these catalogues are, necessarily, not following the order of acquisition in the Library at a quick pace. For most of the above catalogues the expertise had to be acquired from outside the Library, either on a voluntary basis from the authors who were retired or otherwise employed, or by organizing a project of cataloguing with financial support from outside the University. Irrespective of the arrangement, the catalogues would always be far behind the actual pace of acquisition. Nor would the catalogues, which are usually organized by language of the manuscripts, cover the whole of the collection. The compilation of a certain type of acquisition lists has been undertaken, for a while, but the results were not very satisfactory. And in the meantime the Oriental collections in the Leiden Library experienced an unprecedented growth, making a solution of this problem only more urgent.

In the course of 1999, I finally decided, after considerable hesitation, to make inventory lists of the Oriental collections in the Leiden Library, and if necessary of those in other Dutch institutions as well. The present list is hoped to be useful to the Library's readers. It contains much material, almost exclusively from the Island of Bali, which has never yet been catalogued or made public before.

I will shortly explain the way in which this inventory was compiled. As the Oriental manuscript collections in Leiden and the Netherlands contain materials in more than a hundred languages, it is evident that there is no person on earth who is able to compile such an inventory by first-hand knowledge. I do have a long-standing knowledge of Arabic and Persian, and I combine this with some working knowledge of Turkish, Urdu and Malay. That is a lot, but it is not enough by far. So for a considerable number of manuscripts I have had to rely on data made available by others more competent in their own fields than I. Digital scans have been made of some of the older and newer catalogues, and the information contained therein was often checked against the originals and then cast into the fixed format of this inventory. I do not, of course, claim authorship of such information, as I am only the compiler of the present inventory, using numerous sources. Claiming anything else would be preposterous. I cannot but advise the user of the inventory to always consult the sources to which reference is made in the entries. These may be fuller and more detailed than the entry in the present inventory. When somehow text by others is incorporated in the present inventory, I do not, of course, monopolize authorship of it. Whenever text by others is quoted, I have mentioned source and origin. On the other hand, I should not be too modest. The manufacture of the list was done by my own personal initiative and a result of my own personal creativity.
Not all manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy. The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the project. When a manuscript was not inspected this can be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively, inspected the manuscript, and its entry in the inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark. Even for the present volume there were lists provided by the supplier of the material. These, and the material itself, form the basis of the information contained in the present volume.
The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s), 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.

The present inventory is not a publication in the old-fashioned sense that it is an unchangeable monolith, just as the earlier catalogues are. Books of this sort need no longer be written in such a way. It is nothing more than a reflection of the state of research of today on the Oriental manuscripts which it contains. As an electronic book the inventory the information is kept up-to-date. Since the inventory is published as an electronic book, it retains powerful search possibilities which no work on paper has. For the moment this must suffice as a searching tool.
On the longer term I see the development of this inventory as follows. When all descriptions and entries are completed, and after a basic editorial activity on it has been performed, a search engine will be designed which will enable the user to quickly find an answer to his or her bibliographical queries, with all the advanced possibilities of an electronic tool. At that stage the by then electronic inventory and the search engine will be made available to the public, possibly in a constantly updated version in Ter Lugt Press' website, and/or by a regular update on CD-Rom, or on whatever medium is available and more suitable by that time. Obvious advantages of linking, imaging and the like, which are now still in development, will not be avoided. In addition, it is probable that such an electronic inventory will stimulate the publication of in-depth catalogues of part of the collections. The mass of bibliographical information which is herewith provided will, I hope, also give a stimulus to cataloguers ofr manuscript collections outside Leiden or the Netherlands.

I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or by the specific demand of these institutions. The idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said above about the method of compilation.

A word of gratitude and appreciation may be said here to Dr. Hedi Hinzler, who some thirty years ago first made me acquainted with the vast wealth of Balinese manuscripts, the subject of the present volume, and whose help during many years has given me the confidence to compile this first inventory solely devoted to production of the Balinese Typing Project.

PREFACE TO VOLUME TWENTY-TWO

This is not a catalogue, nor a handlist. It is just what is says to be on the title-page, an inventory. The present volume contains the inventory, or in more simple words, the list of all acquisitions of Oriental manuscript materials in the Library of Leiden University, which entered the Library between April 1988 and August 1994. This choice of period is determined by nothing else than the fact that the present volume comprises exactly one thousand items, which are registered as Or. 21.001 till Or. 22.000 in the 'Journaal', the handwritten inventory of the Legatum Warnerianum, which is kept by the curators in the Library. As such it is the twenty-second volume of a projected multi-volume inventory of the collections of Oriental manuscripts in Dutch collections.

A few words of explanation may be added to this. For a long while the 'Journaal' of the Legatum Warnerianum was a tool of retrieval for the Oriental collections, mostly for lack of anything better. It contains, with a varying degree of detail, basic bibliographical information about the new acquisitions. The most important elements of such a registration are the (unchangeable) class-mark (in the Or.-series), the shelf-mark (which only serves the purpose of finding the manuscript in the stacks), the language of the manuscript, and some detail about its content. In addition, the provenance of the material was noted, and often also the price paid. Especially these last mentioned elements were deemed to be confidential, at least for some time. The successive directors of the Leiden library were of the opinion that if such trade information were made available to the public it might jeopardize the negotiating position of the Library, which itself is a player of some importance on the antiquarian market. Making the names of the suppliers to the Library public, so was their opinion, would attract competitive individuals to those same suppliers, and could make it more difficult for the Library to conclude deals.
When I advised the University Librarian Mr. J.R. de Groot in the course of 1977, for precisely these reasons to close the 'Journaal' for the public, it was immediately felt that an alternative tool should be created, as it was feared that an increasing part of the collection would become unavailable for the readers in the Legatum Warnerianum. Several larger cataloguing projects have been undertaken since then. I only need to refer to the catalogues of manuscripts in Hebrew (1977), Batak (1977), Javanese (1980), Arabic (ongoing since 1982), Balinese (1986-1987), Acehnese (1994), Malay (1998, 2007, two volumes published so far), Turkish (2000-2006, three volumes published so far), and a few more projects are on the brink of completion. However, all of these catalogues have features that are different, depending on the nature of the materials described and the bibliographical requirements within a specific field of study. And these catalogues are, necessarily, not following the order of acquisition in the Library at a quick pace. For most of the above catalogues the expertise had to be acquired from outside the Library, either on a voluntary basis from the authors who were retired or otherwise employed, or by organizing a project of cataloguing with financial support from outside the University. Irrespective of the arrangement, the catalogues would always be far behind the actual pace of acquisition. Nor would the catalogues, which are usually organized by language of the manuscripts, cover the whole of the collection. The compilation of a certain type of acquisition lists has been undertaken, for a while, but the results were not very satisfactory. And in the meantime the Oriental collections in the Leiden Library experienced an unprecedented growth, making a solution of this problem only more urgent, but at the same time more difficult to find.

In the course of 1999, I finally decided, after considerable hesitation, to make electronic inventory lists of the Oriental collections in the Leiden Library, and if necessary of those in other Dutch institutions as well. The present list is one of the results of my work and it is hoped to be useful to the Library's readers.

I will shortly explain the way in which this inventory was compiled. As the Oriental manuscript collections in Leiden and the Netherlands contain materials in more than a hundred languages, it is evident that there is no person on earth who is able to compile such an inventory by first-hand knowledge. I do have a long-standing knowledge of Arabic and Persian, and I combine this with some working knowledge of Turkish, Urdu and Malay. That is a lot, but it is not enough by far. So for a considerable number of manuscripts I have had to rely on data made available by others more competent in their own fields than I. Digital scans have been made of some of the older and more recent catalogues, and the information contained therein was often checked against the originals and then cast into the fixed format of this inventory. For the present volume this was never done, and I have exclusively relied on the shipping lists provided by the supplier of the materials, and on the additional information by the Dutch coordinator of the Proyek Tik, especially what concerns the linguistic determination of the materials. I do not, of course, claim authorship of such information, as I am only the compiler of the present inventory, and claiming anything else would be preposterous. When text by others than myself is incorporated in the present inventory, I do not, of course, monopolize authorship of it. Whenever text by others is quoted, I have mentioned source and origin. On the other hand, I should not be too modest. The manufacture of the present list was done at my own personal initiative and is a the result of my own personal creativity. It took most of my stamina for a number of years.

Very few manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy. The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the project. However, I personally did unpack the parcels when they regularly arrived in the Library and I registered their content. When a manuscript was not inspected this can, generally speaking, be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively, inspected the manuscript itself, and its entry in the present inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark. For the manuscripts described in the present volume there was sometimes important information provided by the supplier of the material. These, and the material itself, form the basis of the information contained in the present volume.

The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s), 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.

The present inventory is not a publication in the old-fashioned sense that it is an unchangeable monolith, just as the earlier catalogues are. Books of this sort need no longer be written in such a way. It is nothing more than a reflection of the state of research of today on the Oriental manuscripts which it contains. As an electronic book the inventory the information is kept up-to-date by updated versions. Since the inventory is published as an electronic book, it retains the powerful search possibilities which no work on paper has. For the moment this must suffice as a searching tool.
On the longer term I see the development of this inventory as follows. When all descriptions and entries are completed, and after a basic editorial activity on it has been performed, a search engine will be designed which will enable the user to quickly find an answer to his or her bibliographical queries, with all the advanced possibilities of an electronic tool. At that stage the by then electronic inventory and the search engine will be made available to the public, possibly in a constantly updated version in Ter Lugt Press' website, and/or by a regular update on CD-Rom, or on whatever medium is available and more suitable by that time. Obvious advantages of linking, imaging and the like, which are now still in development, will not be avoided. In addition, it is probable that such an electronic inventory will stimulate the publication of in-depth catalogues of part of the collections. The mass of bibliographical information which is herewith provided will, I hope, also give a stimulus to cataloguers ofr manuscript collections outside Leiden or the Netherlands.

The materials described in the present volume entered the Leiden Library between April 1984 and August 1994. At the same time, however, the regular acquisitions continued to arrive, and the reader of the other volumes of this inventory may see that there is some overlap in time between these two parallel streams of acquisitions.

I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or at the specific demand of these institutions. The very idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their format and structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said above about the method of compilation.

A word of gratitude and appreciation may be said here to Dr. Hedi Hinzler, who some thirty years ago first made me acquainted with the vast wealth of Balinese manuscripts, which are the subject of the present volume. Her help during many years has given me the confidence to compile this inventory solely devoted to production of the Balinese Typing Project.

PREFACE

The arrangement of the present volume of the Inventories of Oriental manuscripts in Leiden University Library does not differ in any specific way from the volumes which have been published earlier (vols. 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14, 20, 22 and 25). For the sake of brevity I refer to my prefaces in those volumes. A few essentials my be repeated here.

Not all manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy. The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the present project. When a manuscript was not inspected this can be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively or sufficiently, inspected the manuscript, and its entry in the inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. These have, of course, always been indicated. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark.

The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s), 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.

I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or by the specific demand of these institutions. The idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said elsewhere about the method of compilation.

Collection of Ethiopian (Ge'ez) manuscripts, purchased in October 1989 from Mrs. Ingrid Zoetmulder, a dealer in Oriental and Slavonic Christian antiquities in Delft. According to Professor L. Van Rompay, who made an initial identification of the individual pieces in the collection, 'it might well be that the manuscripts belong together and that we would have here the library of a modest monastery.' The manuscripts themselves do not seem to provide further information on this matter, however. The manuscripts had arrived from Addis Ababa, shortly before the sale.

Collection of photocopies of Balinese and Javanese manuscripts in private property in Bali, Indonesia. Acquired from the Balinese MS Project in Leiden, in October 1989. These copies were used in the project as model for the making of the romanizations of the texts, which is the primary goal of the project. In the following, the abbreviation HKS refers to the romanized copies made in the project, meaning Hooykaas-Ketut Sangka. C. Hooykaas (1902-1979) was the original organizer of the project, in collaboration with Ketut Sangka (d. 1991) in Krambitan, Tabanan. After Hooykaas' demise, the project was taken over by Dr. H.I.R. Hinzler, so that from summer 1979 onwards, the abbreviation HKS stands for Hinzler-Ketut Sangka.

Photographs
Collection of retakes and reprints of the Photographs of the 'Oudheidkundige Dienst', the former Archeological Survey of the Dutch East-Indies. The new exposures were made in the course of 1990 from originals, mainly kept in the Kern Institute, but also in other public and private collections in The Netherlands. All new prints were put in passe-partout and stored in 262 boxes in the Oriental manuscripts closed stacks, with the hope and expectation that the new prints would now be used for research instead of the old and often very fragile original photographs (which were returned to the Kern Institute in due course). The negatives of the retakes are kept in albums, with the prints. A database of a rather elementary nature was prepared by Mr. Roy Adams in the program Inmagic. This database is available from the desk in the Oriental MS Reading Room of the Leiden Library. Funds for this project were provided by the Dutch Ministry of Education. The project, which took place between 1990-1993, was supervised by Dr. H.I.R. Hinzler. Plans for an upgrading of the database and digitization of all images are presently (September 1999) being formulated.

Collection of photocopies of Balinese and Javanese manuscripts in private property in Bali, Indonesia. Acquired from the Balinese MS Project in Leiden, in October 1989. These copies were used in the project as model for the making of the romanizations of the texts, which is the primary goal of the project. In the following, the abbreviation HKS refers to the romanized copies made in the project, meaning Hooykaas-Ketut Sangka. C. Hooykaas (1902-1979) was the original organizer of the project, in collaboration with Ketut Sangka (d. 1991) in Krambitan, Tabanan. After Hooykaas' demise, the project was taken over by Dr. H.I.R. Hinzler, so that from summer 1979 onwards, the abbreviation HKS stands for Hinzler-Ketut Sangka.

PREFACE

The arrangement of the present volume of the Inventories of Oriental manuscripts in Leiden University Library does not differ in any specific way from the volumes which have been published earlier (vols. 1, 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14, 20, 22, 23 and 25). For the sake of brevity I refer to my prefaces in those volumes. A few essentials my be repeated here.

Not all manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy. The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the present project. When a manuscript was not inspected this can be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively or sufficiently, inspected the manuscript, and its entry in the inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. These have, of course, always been indicated. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark.

To three recently written scholarly catalogues considerable reference is made in the present volume. These catalogues are:
- Nico van den Boogert, Catalogue of Berber manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University. Leiden 2002 (unpublished).
¶ The research for Van den Boogert's work was done within the framework of project No. 301-36-005 ('Bouwstenen voor de Literatuur van het Sous-Berber, en een paleografische Atlas') and was funded by NWO, the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research, in The Hague. Unfortunately the catalogue was never completed. The description of the manuscripts is more or less complete. The thesaurus of Berber authors was never completed, nor was the paleographical atlas.
Note that this is an unpublished work and the copies which exist are without the final correction by the author. Four copies are presently known to exist, apart from the archetype which is still with the author. These are in the possession of Prof. H.J. Stroomer (Leiden), Prof. J.J. Witkam (Leiden), Leiden University Library [class-mark: OosHss A 29], and in the Library of the Institut Royal de la Culture Amazigh (IRCAM) in Rabat, Morocco.
In the present volume of the Leiden inventory the references to Van den Boogert's catalogue have been added to each description, but the descriptions of Berber manuscripts in the present inventory were made before 2002 and are much shorter, hence less complete, than the descriptions in Van den Boogert's catalogue.
- Koos Kuiper, Catalogue of Chinese and Sino-Western manuscripts in the Central Library of Leiden University. With contributions by Jan Just Witkam & Yuan Bingling. Leiden 2005

- Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in The Netherlands. Volume Three comprising the acquisitions of Turkish manuscripts in Leiden University Library between 1970 and 2003. Leiden 2006

The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s), 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.

I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or by the specific demand of these institutions. The idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said elsewhere about the method of compilation.

Working materials by and from P. Voorhoeve (1899-1997). Deposited by him in the Leiden library in or shortly after 1993. The three class-marks had been reserved by Voorhoeve on March 18, 1993. The materials may have been offered by Voorhoeve for publication by the KITLV (see J. Noorduyn's letter of February 7, 1978, at the end of Or. 23.118. Maybe they had been given for review or inspection to J. Noorduyn. That seems to be the case for Or. 23.117 and Or. 23118. The origin of the Rejang dictionary (Or. 23.119) is unclear.

Balinese, Sasak, various languages, paper (photocopy), 292 pp., dated 1937.
Slightly incomplete set (last 8 pages are missing) in photocopy of 'Register van tot het bezit v. d. Kirtya behoorende Balische en Sasaksche handschriften'. An inventory of the Balinese and Sasak manuscripts belonging to the Gedong Kirtya, Singaraja, Bali. The entries are in order of the numbers of the manuscripts. These numbers range from No. 1 till No. 2418 (at the bottom of p. 292).

At the bottom of the title-page is written: 'Heden den zes en twintigsten Juli negentien hond... zeven en dertig is dit register, inhoudende driehonderd bladzijden, op de eerste en de laatste bladzijde met mijn handteekening gewaarmerkt en zijn de overige bladzijd.. van mijn handteekeningstempel voorzien. De Secretaris-Penningmeester der Kirtya Liefrinck-van der Tuuk, (signed: Lion Cachet).' From this it follows that the last eight pages are missing in the present photocopy. In several issues of the Mededeelingen van de Kirtya Liefrinck – van der Tuuk (UBL: V 3900), parts of the manuscript collection of that institution have been described. In 'Aflevering' 2 (1930), pp. 13-22, there is a list of the manuscripts that were then availably in the Kirtya library. In 'Aflevering' 3 (Singaradja 1931), pp. 9-35, is a list of titles of texts, alphabetically arranged, referring to manuscripts Nos. 1-639, which are the acquisitions of the Kirtya library till May 1, 1931. In 'Aflevering' 4 (Singaradja-Solo 1935), pp. iv-x, 1-87, is a sequel to the previous list, also alphabetically arranged by title of the texts, referring to manuscripts 1-1220. The manuscripts Nos. 640-1220 were acquired in the period between May 1, 1931 and May 1, 1934. In 'Aflevering' 4 (Singaradja-Solo 1937), pp. 3-13, manuscripts Nos. 1221-1313 have been described in very much the same way. A further description was published in the 'Bijlage' to 'Aflevering 6', containing references to the acquisitions of lontars in the period between June 1936 and February 1939. In 'Aflevering' 11 (Singaradja-Jogjakarta 1940), pp. 1-10, C. Hooykaas has published a report on activities of the Kirtya Liefrinck-van der Tuuk for the period 1935-1940. This is followed by a list of acquisitions, equally alphabetically arranged by title of the texts. The highest number given here seems to be No. 1786 (Awig-awig desa Bila). In 'Aflevering' 13 (Singaradja-Jogjakarta 1941), pp. 30-43, C. Hooykaas has published the Kirtya report for the year 1940, followed by an alphabetically arranged list of new acquisitions, of which No. 2099 seems to be the highest number. Writings in Sasak which are kept in the Kirtya library are described on pp. 42-43. From a certain moment onwards, these Sasak writings have been provided with special numbers, over 10,000, in order to indicate the fact that they are in Sasak.
Provenance: Gift of Dr. H.I.R. Hinzler to the Library, promised in the course of 1993 and actually received on January 3, 2000.

Collection of Arabic manuscripts, most probably originating from Madura, though some may have been manufactured elsewhere, which were purchased in April 1994 from Mr. Alwin Sarief (Ba `Abbud), a Dutchman of Hadrami-Indonesian background, living in Wilnis, who had received the manuscripts from relatives some time before this transaction. The dates in three out of the four manuscripts are all unlikely. Another piece on Arkan Sihhat al-Nikah is ascribed Ahmad Fal.

(14) ff. 67a-b. Paper smaller size (16 x 10.5 cm). Pieces in prose and poetry, all on matters of Islamic law (nikah, shahadat, etc.). Al-Muqaddimat of Ibn Rush is referred to (recto side).
(15) ff. 68a-b. Paper smaller size (16 x 10.5 cm). Poetical pieces (ragaz), on matters pertaining to Islamic law (marriage mostly). One mentions the blessings of touching the private parts of one's wife (fī lams farǧ zawǧa thalāthūn ḥasana ...). In the poetry quite a number of lawbooks and their authors are mentioned: Muhammad Fal, al-Kifaya by Ahmad al-Mushfi` al-Mukhtar (recto), al-Dahuni, Ibn Rushd, Ibn Qasim, the Tafsil by Ibn Yunus, the Hashiya of al-Dardir, al-Tahrir (verso).

(16) ff. 69a-70b. A bifolium with several shorter pieces (not continuous), both in prose and poetry. Several authors are mentioned: Muhammad Mawlud b. Ahmad Fal al-Ya`qubi, al-Shaykh Ma' al-`Aynayn (Abu `Abdallah Muhammad Fadil al-Shinqiti (d. 1328/1910), GAL S II, 890) (f. 69a); an incomplete note on gana'iz, burying (f. 69b); poetical pieces, ascribed to (?) `Abdallah b. Muhammad b. Muhammad Salim (f. 70a), and quotations from al-Ghazzali's Ihya' `Ulum al-Din, Rub` al-Mungiyat (ff. 70a-b).
(17) ff. 71a-76b. Unidentified continuous prose fragment, with poetical quotations, of a work with frequent reference to the Qur'an and the Hadith. (21) ff. 120a-129b. Three disparate fragments (ff. 120a-127b, 128a-b, 129a-b) of a prose text on Hadith or Sira. In all three fragments are references to a work with the title al-Anwar al-Muhammadiyya. This is possibly al-Anwar al-Muhammadiyya min al-Mawahib al-Laduniyya, a shortened version by Yusuf al-Nabhani (fl. 1345/1926) of al-Mawahib al-Laduniyya fil-Minah al-Muhammadiyya by Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Qastallani (d. 923/1517), GAL S II, 78-79. An argument against the identification would be the late life date of al-Nabhani.
(22) ff. 130a-134b. Fragments (possibly not continuous; ff. 131-132 and ff. 133-134 are each continuous as it clear from the catchwords on ff. 131b and 133b) from an unidentified prose work, possibly Agwiba on legal matters or from a collection of Hadith.
(23) ff. 135a-136b. Possibly continuous fragment (bifolium) with notes of religious content. On f. 136a is also a genealogy (shagara) from Zayn al-`Abidin to Sidi Ahmad b. Musa al-Susi and Moulay `Abdallah b. Husayn.
(24) ff. 137a-141b. Continuous fragment from a work of literary nature, with frequent reference to passages from grammarians such as al-Asma`i, from the Sira, and from poets. Abrupt beginning. Some poets are mentioned by name: `Abd al-Malik (f. 137b), `Ali b. Abi Talib (f. 138b), Zuhayr b. Habab (f. 139a), Haram b. Sinan (f. 139a), al-Hutay'a (f. 139a), Ka`b b. Malik (f. 140a). (25) ff. 142a-144b. Complete, anonymous Nasiha (al-Amr bil-Ma`ruf) that the Muslims must trust on the Lord, and not on their fathers, their Shaykhs, not on their wives, and not on themselves. Several notes and quotations at the end, which are possibly not part of the Nasiha anymore. One of the works quoted (f. 144b) is Mabariq al-Azhar `ala Mashariq al-Anwar, the commentary by `Izz al-Din `Abd al-Latif b. `Abd al-`Aziz al-Kirmani b. Malikshah, known as Ibn al-Malak, Ibn Firishta or Firishte-oghlu (d. 874/1469), GAL S II, 315, on Mashariq al-Anwar al-Nabawiyya min Sihah al-Akhbar al-Mustafawiyya by al-Hasan b. Muhammad al-Saghani (d. 650/1252), GAL S I, 613.

(26) ff. 145a-147b. Continuous fragment of a commentary on a Qasida (ra'iyya), either one as yet unidentified. Matn in pink, sharh in black ink. On f. 147a is a reference to the Ihya' `Ulum al-Din by al-Ghazzali.
(27) ff. 148a-149b. A bifolium with the end of a larger note and several shorter notes on a variety of subject. The text of the larger not is not necessarily continuous as the catchword of f. 14b is lacking. The Ahl al-Bayt are mentioned repeatedly.
(28) ff. 150a-152b. Continuous fragment, containing notes and quotations from an unidentified religious work in prose. Instead of rubrication in red, conspicuous words are written in green ink. Subjects mentioned are: al-Targhib fil-Ikhwa fi Allah (f. 150a), al-Bab al-Thani fi Huquq al-Ikhwa wal-Sahaba (f. 151b). On f. 152a reference is made to a work Ithaf al-Sadat al-Muttaqin bi-Sharh Asrar Ihya' `Ulum al-Din, the commentary by Muhammad b. Muhammad b. al-Husayn al-Murtada (d. 1205/1791), GAL G II, 287, on the Ihya' `Ulum al-Din by al-Ghazzali (505/1111), GAL G I, 422, No. 25a.
(29) ff. 153a-b. Fragment, possibly coming from a collection of notes or quotations.
(30) ff. 154a-b. Fragment from an unidentified prose work, with frequent reference to the Hadith. Or from a collection of notes and quotations. Rubrics. On the verso side a reference to a work entitled al-Lu'lu' al-Mahuz (al-luʾluʾ al-maḥūz).
¶ Throughout this collec tion of shorter texts and fragments of texts one finds marginal notes (introduced by quf) by one and the same reader, with mention of the subject matter of the passage thus indicated.

Or. 23.309
Collective volume with a great number of shorter and longer texts in Arabic, with some Berber, paper (several types, some with blind stamps), 163 ff., 17.9 x 11.3 cm (and slightly smaller sizes), maghribi srcipt, many different copyists, loose leaves, bifolia and occasionally quires, held together in a full leather binding with flap, which apparently does not belong to the present collection of fragment since it is slightly undersized. The here following description cannot be but tentative, since many fragments could not be identified, and several texts are incomplete and lacunous. It is not impossible that fragments in Or. 23.310, below, and possibly other collections which came together with the present volume, belong to materials registered under the present number.
(1) ff. 1a-b. Notes. Recto side: Ṭuraf ḥadīthiyya fī maʿnā kahayʿaṣ. Verso side sequel of the preceding, followed by a dubayt. Then come 2 lines in rağaz, introduced by wa-li-Shaykhinā. F. 2a. blank, except for a minute taṣliya.

in poetical form, on a matter of marriage law. The answer is given by al-Mukhtar b. Sayyid.
(4) ff. 12a-13b. The final part only of urguza on Islamic law. On f. 12b is Fasl fi Masa'il min al-Buyu`. In the last line (f. 13b) the year when the work (not this copy) was completed is given as 1059 AH. Text within double frame.
(5) ff. 14a-b. Fragment of an urguza on Islamic law. Text within double frame.
(6) ff. 15a-17a. The final part only of a theological or mystical urguza. Copied by Muhammad `Abdallah b. `Abd al-Rahman b. Ahmad b. al-Bashir b. al-Hasan murid shaykhihi al-Shaykh Ma' al-`Aynayn. The copyist copied the text for his brother in God Muhammad `Abdallah Ibn al-Sabir (colophon on f. 17a). F. 17b blank.
(7) ff. 18a-25b. Fragment of a religious urguza. Beginning and end are missing, without indication of author.
(8) ff. 26a-33b. Commentary by Abu al-Mawadda Khalil (author on f. 26a) on the introduction only of a work of Maliki fiqh (author on f. 26a, Malik b. Anas on f. 31a), probably al-Mukhtasar by Khalil b. Ishaq al-Gundi (d. 767/1365), GAL S II, 97. Matn in red, sharh in black ink. On the last page the first chapter title: Bab al-Tahara (f. 33b).
(9) ff. 34a-37a. al-Ta'lif al-Musamma bil-Shaykh al-Agamm (?), by Muhammad al-Imam (here written as al-Mām) (title and author on f. 34a). A short treatise on logic and style theory (al-manṭiq, al-bayān, al-badī`, al-mağāz, etc.). On f. 35b reference is made to the Talkhis by al-Qazwini (d. 739/1338) of vol. 3 of the Miftah al-`Ulum by al-Sakkaki (d. 626/1229). The author may be identical with the Muḥammad al-Imām mentioned in Muhammad al-Mukhtar al-Susi, al-Ma`sul, vol. 4, pp. 284-298, where no work on the subject of the present treatise is mentioned. Muhammad al-Imam was born end Gumada II 1311 (), and died shortly after Morocco's independence. His mother `Aliyya was the daughter of Ma' al-`Aynayn (Ma`sul, 4, p. 294).
(10) ff. 37b-41b. Qurb al-Thawr by Muhammad al-Imam (author and title on f. 37b). See for him in al-Ma`sul, vol. 4, pp. 284-198 (?). The text contains poetry in Berber (f. 37b, not in Van den Boogert's Catalogue). A treatise on the expression 'qala Muhammad'. There may be lacunae in the text.
(11) ff. 42a-44b. The beginning only of the Manzuma (an Urguza), and its Sharh, by Muhammad Mawlud b. Ahmad Fal b. Muhammad Fal al-Ya`qubi (bibliographical details on f. 42a). Abrupt end on f. 44b. The Manzuma in red ink, the Sharh in black ink.
(12) ff. 45a-48b. Urguza by Sidi Muhammad b. al-Shaykh Sidi on ff. 45a-47a, followed by a Madh (also an Urguza) to the author's Shaykh and the latter's *Shaykh*s, on ff. 47a-48b).
(13) ff. 49a-54b. Fragments (beginning and end of text missing, apparently lacunous) of an Urguza on eschatological matters. Some chaper titles are given: f. 49a: Fasl fi Ashrat al-Sa`a al-Kubra, f. 51a: Fasl fil-Hawd, f. 51b: Fasl fil-Mizan, f. 52a: Fasl fi Akhbar al-Mahdi al-`Alawi al-`Abbasi, f. 53a: Fasl fil-Kutub al-Munazzala, f. 54b. Fasl fi Dhikr ma warada min al-Sam`iyyat, f. 54b: Fasl fil-Bahth. The present order of the leaves does not represent the correct order. However, the order between ff. 49b-50a and 53b-54a is warranted by the catchwords. The text is set in a remarkable lay-out with a blank column in centre page. No mention of an author.
(14) 85 ff. A lacunous copy of a commentary on a grammatical Urguza. Six bundles (indicated a-f) each contaioning continuous leaves (as is clear from the catchwords). In all 85 ff. Bundle f seems to contain the end of the text. Copied by Muhammad al-Amin b. Muhammad Mukhtar b. Muhammad Habib Allah (recto side last leaf in bundle f). Matn in red, sharh in black ink. On the verso of the one but last leaf in bundle f is written in large script: wa-ma ahsana Qawl Ibn Daqiq al-`Id fil-Radd `ala man `aba Kalam Ibn al-Hagib. Muhammad b. `Ali Ibn Daqiq al-`Id died in 702/1302, the grammarian Ibn al-Hagib died in 646/1249, GAL I, 303.

(15) 6 ff. Fragments of one or more unidentified poetical anthologies. Several poets are mentioned by name: al-Shafi`i, Ben al-Talib Brahim, Ibn Ahdiyur (Aḥdiyūr), Abd al-Salam, Abu Nasr al-Farabi, a poem in praise of `Umar b. `Abd al-`Aziz, al-Nabigha, al-Sultan Zaydan, `Abdallah b. al-Zubayr, al-Sayyid Muhammad Amin al-Sharif, Muhammad Amin b. al-Shaykh al-Ma`lum, and others. The fragments could even originate from entirely different sources, and several different copyists are involved. There are two bifolia, however.
(16) 4 ff. Fragments of one or more poetical texts or anthologies. Both qasa'id and urguza's can be observed. More than one copyist seems to be involved. On second leaf recto is a heading in an Urguza: Fasl fil-Ganna ga`alana Allah mimman yadkhuluha bighayr Hisab. See also Or. 23.310 (29), below.
(17) 1 f. A question (Su'al) by Ibn Razi put to the inhabitants of Fas (recto), followed by a question (Su'al) by Muhammad al-Yadal, with the answer (Gawab) by Abu Muhammad al-Yadal on the verso side. Both questions and the answer are in rhyme and metre.
(18) 1 f. Poetical piece, rhyming in –b, by Shaykhuna al-Shaykh Sidi Ibn al-Mukhtar, on the recto side. On the verso a Hadith on the authority of Abu Sa`id al-Khudri, and other notes, including the formulas to be said when one starts to read a book:

من اراد ان يطالع كتابا فليقل عند افتتاحه بسم الله الفتاح المعين الكافي ثلاثا ويقول رب زدني علما ثلاثا ثم يصلى على النبي ثلاثا فانه يفهم ما فيه باذن الله

(19) 1 f. Poetical fragments with prayer, by `Ali b. Shaykhina al-Shaykh Sidi Muhammad Fadil b. Shaykhina al-Shaykh Sidi Muhammad Amin. On the verso side is added: fil-Kunnash.
(20) 1 f. Poetical fragments of different authors, in several different hands. Poem by al-Shaykh Sayyid Muhammad b. `Abd al-`Aziz, with a question put to al-Sayyid Muhammad al-`Aqib b. Muhammad Mahmud b. al-Baydawi, followed by the latter's answer. Also a piece by Sidi Yunis b. al-Shaykh al-Talib Akhyar b. Shaykhina al-Shaykh Ma` al-`Aynayn.
(21) 1 f. Fragment of a text on the reading of the Qur'an. In a rubric the book title al-`Aqila is mentioned. This is `Aqilat Atrab al-Qasa'id fi Asna al-Maqasid li-`Ilm Rasm al-Masahif, the versification (basit, rhyming in –ra) by Abu al-Qasim b. Firroh al-Ru`ayni al-Shatibi (d. 590/1194), GAL G I, 409, of al-Muqni` fi Ma`rifat Rasm Masahif al-Amsar, the treatise on the constitution of the Qur'anic orthography by `Uthman b. Sa`id al-Dani (d. 444/1053), GAL G I, 470.
(22) 7 ff. Several loose leaves with unidentified text, of different subject and origin, and written by several different copyists.

¶ When the present volume was sold to the Leiden Library, it was said that the texts came from, or were in the hand of Ma' al-`Aynayn Abu `Abdallah Muhammad Fadil al-Shinqiti (d. 1328/1910), GAL S II, 890. It is possible that the loose fragments contained in the collective binding the contents of which is here described were some day in this scholar's posession, or that they originate from his family. In a few cases only, however, there is explicit evidence that there is indeed a connection.

Or. 23.310
Collective volume with a great number of shorter and longer texts in Arabic, paper (several types, some with blind stamps), 152 ff., 18 x 11.5 cm (and slightly different sizes), maghribi srcipt, many different copyists, loose leaves, bifolia and occasionally quires, held together in a full leather binding with flap, which evidently does not belong to the present collection of fragment since it is quite oversized (text in Arabic by an inexpert hand on paper pasted inside the binding).
The here following description cannot be but tentative, since many fragments could not be identified, and several texts are incomplete and lacunous. It is not impossible that fragments in Or. 23.309, above, and possibly other collections which came together with the present volume, belong to fragments which are registered under the present number.
(1) ff. 1a-2b. Wasiyya by al-Shaykh Muhammad Fal b. Mutali (f. 1a). Urguza.
(2) ff. 2b-3b. Another Urguza by the author of No. 1 (wa-lahu aydan), followed by yet two other short poetical pieces by the same author.
(3) ff. 4a-22a. Wasilat al-Sa`ada fi Nashr ma tadammana al-Shahada (title on ff. 5a, 22a). A versification of of the creeds by Muhammad al-Sanusi (f. 5a, line 19). The latter is, of course, Abu `Abdallah Muhammad b. Yusuf al-Sanusi (d. 892/1486), GAL G II, 250. The texts consists of an opening (ff. 4a-5a), introduction (muqaddima, f. 5a), ten chapters (fasl, ff. 8a, 8b, 11a, 11b, 12a, 16a, 16b, 17a, 19b) and an epilogue (khatima, f. 21b). Dated Sunday night, 17 Dhu al-Higga 1318, copied by Muhammad Babah b. Muhammad b. Abah who made the copy for himself (colophon on f. 22a).
ff. 22b-24b blank.
(4) ff. 25a-26a. Naql Muhammad Mawlud b. Ahmad Fal (f. 25a). Four notes on different subjects. The first note on the musalli, the second on religious controversies. Text on ff. 25b-26a badly legible because of damage by moist. F. 26b blank.
(5) ff. 27a-46b. Two parts of an Urguza on Islamic law. Beginning and end are missing. The correct order of the leaves between ff. 41b-42a is not warranted by the catchwords. Minute script. Different copyist on ff. 45b-46b.
(6) ff. 47a-69b. Incomplete copy of an Urguza on subjects of Islamic law, section of the Mu`amalat. Beginning is missing. Continuity of the text between ff. 58a-59a is doubtful (catchword on f. 58b written later). At the end seems to be a title: Nazm al-Mudhahhab. Dated Sunday morning 23 Safar 131?, the copyist's name has been made illegible (colophon on f. 69b). More than one copyist appears to be involved. One copyist writes in a minute script.

(7) ff. 70a-81b. Incomplete commentary on a work on orthography, or on phonology (?), of the Qur'an. A continuous fragment. Beginning is missing. Matn in red, sharh in black ink. Dated the afternoon of Monday 10 Sha`ban 1318, copied by Muhammad Babah b. Muhammad b. Abah, who made the copy for himself (colophon on f. 81b).
Also on f. 81b a poetical piece (ragaz) by al-Talib `Abdallah, written in another hand, and possibly incomplete. It would appear that this al-Talib `Abdallah refers to the immediately preceding text as Manzum Khatt al-Mushaf, although the preceding text is a prose text.
(8) ff. 82a-84b. Continuous fragment, without beginning or end of a commentary on Islamic law. Matn in red, sharh in black ink.
(9) ff. 85a-86b. Continuous fragment, without beginning or end of a commentary on Islamic law. Matn in red, sharh in black ink. Written on calculation paper.
(10) ff. 87a-88a. Notes on Adab al-Safar. The beginning of the text appears to be missing. In all there would have been eleven paragraphs, but here the text only contains paragraphs 3 (partly) through par. 11. F. 88b blank.
(11) ff. 89a-91a. Poetical piece, of which each of the 45 lines (distichs?) rhymes in –sā. Written in a remarkable script. Lexicographical explanations between in the lines in smaller script. Several poetical pieces on f. 91b, in another, more common hand.
(12) ff. 92a-b. The last part only of a commentary on an Urguza. According to the final lines of the Urguza (*qad tamma ma naqalahu al-Suyuti `an * Shuyukhihi Qudat Salif al-Zamani*) this would be a work by al-Suyuti (d. 911/1505). The author of the sharh does not make himself known, however. Matn in red, sharh in black ink.
(13) ff. 93a-94b. The beginning only of Yusr al-Arzaq. The Urguza and its sharh are both by Muhammad `Abd al-Wahhab b. al-Tawabshi b. al-Sayyid b. al-Qadi (title and author on f. 93a). Rizq, subsistence given by God, is the subject matter.
(14) ff. 95a-103b. Incomplete copy (f. 103b abrupt end) of Matiyyat al-Magd bi-`Azmihi li-Naylihi lil-Qasd (Maṭiyyat al-Mağd bi-ʿAzmihi li-Naylihi lil-Qaṣd), an Urguza by al-Shaykh Muhammad Fadil b. Mamayn (?) al-Hasani al-Idrisi (title and author on f. 95a). A continuous fragment of two quires.
(15) ff. 104a-105b. Unidentified, continuous fragment, on a variety of subjects, possibly a notarial handbook, or a book on ethics. On f. 104a is a note on the fact that it is permitted to touch the Lawh with Qur'anic text on it with saliva. On the same page twice reference is made to a work called Watha'iq al-Gharnati.
(16) ff. 106a-107b. An incomplete (beginning missing) enumeration of sayings by the Prophet Muhammad. Copied by `Ali b. Shaykhina Muhammad Fadil b. Mamayn (Māmayn [= al-Amīn?], colophon on f. 107b). Rubrication, in pink ink, now mostly faded. On f. 108a are shorter notes and prayers, in the hand of the copyist.
(17) ff. 108b-109a. A genealogical Manqul (quotation) copied from a text in the handwriting of 'my brother' al-Qutb b. Shaykhina al-Shaykh Sidi Muhammad Fadil b. Shaukhihi al-Shaykh Sidi Muhammad Muhammad al-Amin (=? Mamayn?). He asserted that this was copied by him from a text in the handwriting of al-Marwan whose genealogy goes back to Hassan b. Hamid b. `Aqqal b. Ma`qal b. `Abdallah b. Ga`far al-Tayyar b. Abi Talib b. `Abd al-Muttalib. Same handwriting as No. 16, above.

(18) ff. 109a-111b. Notes (on furud), lines of poetry, fawa'id, etc. Same handwriting as No. 16, above.
(19) ff. 112a-113a. The last part only of Agwiba by Ma' al-`Aynayn (Abu `Abdallah Muhammad Fadil al-Shinqiti (d. 1328/1910), GAL S II, 890). Dated Saturday evening 16 Ragab 1302 (?), copied by the author's murid Ahmad b. al-Shams Muhammad Fal, who made the copy for himself.
(20) f. 113b. A note (Fa'ida) by al-Qastallani (not further specified) on the conditions of marriage, copied by Ma' al-`Aynayn (Abu `Abdallah Muhammad Fadil al-Shinqiti (d. 1328/1910), GAL S II, 890), and here copied by the latter's murid Ahmad b. al-Shams Muhammad Fal, who also copied the preceding text.
(21) ff. 114a-115b. Continous fragment without beginning or end of a work on grammar. The fragment mentions on f. 114a the alif in connection with the orthography of the Qur'an. On f. 114b begins the epilogue (khatima), in which an enumeration of twenty-five points concerning the regular female plural is given.
(22) ff. 116a-117b. Continuous fragment, without beginning or end, containing questions and answers, possibly originating from a work on Islamic law. On f. 117b the fragment ends with a list of names of scholars from different regions of the Islamic world.
(23) ff. 118a-119b. Continuous fragment (bifolium) with notes, here indicated as fa'ida, taken from the Hashiya by Shaykh Muhammad b. al-Madani `Ali Gannun (ff. 118a (margin), 118b, 119b) on a work entitled Awdah al-Masalik wa-Ashal al-Maraqi.
(24) ff. 120a-121b. Continuous fragment (bifolium) containting the beginning only (basmala on f. 120a) on the conditions of learning, possibly originally part of a larger composition. In all ten conditions are given. After the basmala and tasliya the text begins straight away: ādāb al-mutaʿallim wa-waẓāʾifuhu al-ẓāhira kathīra walākin tunaẓẓam tafārīquhā ʿashar ǧumal ...
(25) ff. 122a-123b. Continuous fragment (abrupt beginning), containing extracts from the Kitab Ihya' `Ulum al-Din (mentioned on f. 123b), the work by Abu Hamid Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Ghazzali (d. 505/1111), GAL G I, 423.
(26) ff. 124a-125b. Two unconnected leaves from what seems to be a work on Arabic grammar. The subject of al-alif al-Mahdhuf is treated (two chapter (fasl) titles).
(27) f. 126a-b. Fragment with poetical pieces, ascribed to Ma' al-`Aynayn (Abu `Abdallah Muhammad Fadil al-Shinqiti (d. 1328/1910), GAL S II, 890). The signs of the Zodiac and other astrological subjects are treated. Also education (Tarbiyat al-Darari) is a subject.
(28) ff. 127a-b. Fragment (abrupt beginning), containing one or more extracts from the Kitab Ihya' `Ulum al-Din (mentioned on f. 127b), the work by Abu Hamid Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Ghazzali (d. 505/1111), GAL G I, 423. Not in the same hand as No. 25, above.
(29) ff. 128a-130b. Continuous fragment, containg the final part of an Urguza, apparently on eschatological matters. Possibly belong to the same collection as Or. 23.309 (16), above. Chapter titles available:
f. 128a. Fasl fil-Ru'ya ga`alana Allah ta`ala mimman yaraunahu Bukratan wa-`Ashiyyatan.
f. 128b. Fasl fi Dhikr al-Nar agarana Allah minha bi-Gah Sayyid al-Awwalin wal-Akharin `alayhi Salat al-Musallin wa-Azka Salam al-Muslimin Amin Amin.

(30) ff. 131a. Short untitled poem by Shaykhuna Muhammad al-Imam (written here: al-Mām), consisting of an introduction, two chapters (bab) and an epilogue (khatima), in all counting 25 distichs. (31) ff. 132a-133b. Continuous fragment of a Qasida (a lamiyya) in which on f. 132b mention is made of Shaykh Ma'al-`Aynayn (Abu `Abdallah Muhammad Fadil al-Shinqiti (d. 1328/1910), GAL S II, 890). Brownish ink, and fully vocalized in red ink.

(34) ff. 140a-b. Several shorter poetical pieces, in different hands. The first piece on f. 140a is ascribed to Abu Madyan al-Ghawth (d. 598/1193), GAL G I, 438.

(37) ff. 142a-b. The beginning only of a Qasida mimiyya. In all 48 distichs are available. Beginning:

(بسمله) لك الحمد يا الله يا بارئ النسم * وصل على المبعوث للعرب والعجم

(39) 9 ff. Collection of nine leaves from nine unidentified works in prose and poetry.
¶ When the present volume was sold to the Leiden Library, it was said that the texts came from, or were in the hand of Ma' al-`Aynayn Abu `Abdallah Muhammad Fadil al-Shinqiti (d. 1328/1910), GAL S II, 890. It is possible that the loose fragments contained in the collective binding the contents of which is here described were some day in this scholar's posession, or that they originate from his family. In a few cases only, however, there is explicit evidence that there is indeed a connection.

Persian, paper, 161 ff., naskh script, old spelling, but not dated, new full-leather binding.
Incomplete copy (beginning of the table of contents is missing; abrupt end) of a work on the interpretation of dreams by Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Ghaznawi. No title is indicated.
The table of contents (ff. 1a-7a) begint with the mention of chapter (bab) 77. As each page contains the mention of an average of eleven chapters, it may be assumed that before f. 1a, the MS must have contained seven more page for the table of contents. At the end of the volume, the text abruptly ends in the middle of chapter 220. The total number of chapters according to the table of contents is 228 chapters. From this can be concluded that the text of some 8½ chapters is missing at the end, possibly consisting of some eight or ten pages. From this it is clear that the work is incomplete in a minor way only.
Microfilm in Leiden: A 2009.
Provenance: Purchased in November 1994 from Mr. Ali Reza Rahiminjad, an exile from Iran who is living in The Hague. Mr. Rahiminjad stated that as an exile he had found employment of administrative nature in the National Archive in The Hague. By internal arrangement with the Archive's restaurators he had been able to have the MS restored into its present state, and have the present binding added to it. On the earlier provenance of the MS he stated that he had found it on a waste dump somewhere in Iran, which may, or may not, be true.

Awig-awig Pasedahan (Tenganan), copy of a text dated 1737 saka (1816 AD). A romanized transcript of this MS seems to be Or. 24.600, below (HKS 6432), where the year of copying of the original is quoted as 1735 saka, and where the total number of leaves of the lontar is counted as 22. See also Or. 24.601, below. Another argument against the identification with the transcript is the fact that it is unlikely that a manuscript which has entered the Leiden library in 1994 would have been transcribed in the course of 1998, unless one assumes that the transcription was made on the basis of a photocopy of the original lontar manuscript.

Or. 23.637
Collective volume with texts in Turkish on astronomy and astrology, paper, 1 + 130 ff., text 2 is dated 1008-1009 AH, naskh script. On the page before text 1 is a note in French by an Oriental owner: 'Manuscrit Zayidje'-i-fenni. Astrologie. Traduit de l'Arabe en turc par Ahmed, sans date.' Half-leather Islamic binding, pasted boards (marbled).

(1) ff. [1b]-30a. Risala-yi Zayiga-yi Fanni. Title on f. [1b], where also the translator Ahmad (or Ahmad al-Da`i?) is mentioned and the author of the original Arabic text, Khwaga Nasir al-Din al-Tusi (d. 672/1274), GAL G I, 511. Astronomical illustrations on ff. 4b, 5b, 7b, 10a, 10b, 17b, (some pasted in). Also some gadawil. The text is divided in thirty sections (Fasl), and we may well have here a version of Tusi's Si Fasl. Notes in the margins by a 'modern' user. Schmidt gives the title: Targama-yi Risala-yi Si Fasl and as the translator Ahmad al-Da`i (flourished 8/14th cent.).

(5) ff. 110b-130b. Unidentified text on astrology. On f. 120b a book entitled Kifaya is referred to. To judge from the catchword on the last page, the original volume must have contained more texts.

Javanese, paper, 161 ff., illustrations, dated 1886-1887.
Prang Demak, the war of Demak. Demak is situated near Semarang in Central Java, from where the first spread of Islam took place, in the 15th and 16th centuries. The war described in the present text was waged in connection with the coming of Islam in Demak and the surrounding region. There are several polychrome drawings in the text, executed in a somewhat primitive style, among which also negotiations with Muslim missionaries can be seen. The latter are distinguished by their wearing turbans (on ff. 30b, 59a, 70a, 80a, 81a, 91b, 101a, 160b).
Provenance: Purchased on June 6, 1997 by auction at Messrs. Van Stockum, auctioneers in The Hague (catalogue No. 1410).
Earlier provenance: N. de Rudder, Semarang-Yaudi, 1893. Later the manuscript must somehow have come into the possession of Victor Chauvin (1844-1913), professor in Liège, Belgium, as he gave the manuscript on August 23, 1907, to Abraham Anthony Fokker in Amsterdam. A.A. Fokker (* 1862) was a scholar of Indonesian studies and an official in the Dutch East-Indies government.

INVENTORY OF THE ORIENTAL MANUSCRIPTS OF THE LIBRARY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF LEIDEN

VOLUME 25

MANUSCRIPTS OR. 24.001 – OR. 25.000
ACQUISITIONS OF LEIDEN UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
IN THE PERIOD BETWEEN AUGUST 1994 AND JANUARY 2002

COMPILED BY JAN JUST WITKAM
PROFESSOR OF PALEOGRAPHY AND CODICOLOGY
OF THE ISLAMIC WORLD IN LEIDEN UNIVERSITY
INTERPRES LEGATI WARNERIANI

TER LUGT PRESS
LEIDEN 2007

First electronic publication: 19 December 2005. Latest update: 18 July 2007.

This is not a catalogue, nor a handlist. It is just what is says to be on the title-page, an inventory. The present volume contains the inventory, or in more simple words, the list of all acquisitions of Oriental manuscript materials in the Library of Leiden University, which entered the Library between August 1994 and January 2002. This choice of period is determined by nothing else than the fact that the present volume comprises exactly one thousand items, which are registered as Or. 24.001 till Or. 25.000 in the 'Journaal', the handwritten inventory of the Legatum Warnerianum, which is kept by the curators in the Library. As such it is the twenty-fifth volume of a projected multi-volume inventory of the collections of Oriental manuscripts in Dutch collections.

A few words of explanation may be added to this. For a long while the 'Journaal' of the Legatum Warnerianum was a tool of retrieval for the Oriental collections, mostly for lack of anything better. It contains, with a varying degree of detail, basic bibliographical information about the new acquisitions. The most important elements of such a registration are the (unchangeable) class-mark (in the Or.-series), the shelf-mark (which only serves the purpose of finding the manuscript in the stacks), the language of the manuscript, and some detail about its content. In addition, the provenance of the material was noted, and often also the price paid. Especially these last mentioned elements were deemed to be confidential, at least for some time. The successive directors of the Leiden library were of the opinion that if such trade information were made available to the public it might jeopardize the negotiating position of the Library, which itself is a player of some importance on the antiquarian market. Making the names of the suppliers to the Library public, so was their opinion, would attract competitive individuals to those same suppliers, and could make it more difficult for the Library to conclude deals.
When I advised the University Librarian Mr. J.R. de Groot in the course of 1977, for precisely these reasons to close the 'Journaal' for the public, it was immediately felt that an alternative tool should be created, as it was feared that an increasing part of the collection would become unavailable for the readers in the Legatum Warnerianum. Several larger cataloguing projects have been undertaken since then. I only need to refer to the catalogues of manuscripts in Hebrew (1977), Batak (1977), Javanese (1980), Arabic (ongoing since 1982), Balinese (1986-1987), Acehnese (1994), Malay (1998, 2007, two volumes published so far), Turkish (2000-2006, three volumes published so far), and a few more projects are on the brink of completion. However, all of these catalogues have features that are different, depending on the nature of the materials described and the bibliographical requirements within a specific field of study. And these catalogues are, necessarily, not following the order of acquisition in the Library at a quick pace. For most of the above catalogues the expertise had to be acquired from outside the Library, either on a voluntary basis from the authors who were retired or otherwise employed, or by organizing a project of cataloguing with financial support from outside the University. Irrespective of the arrangement, the catalogues would always be far behind the actual pace of acquisition. Nor would the catalogues, which are usually organized by language of the manuscripts, cover the whole of the collection. The compilation of a certain type of acquisition lists has been undertaken, for a while, but the results were not very satisfactory. And in the meantime the Oriental collections in the Leiden Library experienced an unprecedented growth, making a solution of this problem only more urgent, but at the same time more difficult to find.

In the course of 1999, I finally decided, after considerable hesitation, to make electronic inventory lists of the Oriental collections in the Leiden Library, and if necessary of those in other Dutch institutions as well. The present list is one of the results of my work and it is hoped to be useful to the Library’s readers.

I will shortly explain the way in which this inventory was compiled. As the Oriental manuscript collections in Leiden and the Netherlands contain materials in more than a hundred languages, it is evident that there is no person on earth who is able to compile such an inventory by first-hand knowledge. I do have a long-standing knowledge of Arabic and Persian, and I combine this with some working knowledge of Turkish, Urdu and Malay. That is a lot, but it is not enough by far. So for a considerable number of manuscripts I have had to rely on data made available by others more competent in their own fields than I. Digital scans have been made of some of the older and more recent catalogues, and the information contained therein was often checked against the originals and then cast into the fixed format of this inventory. For the present volume this was never done, and I have exclusively relied on the shipping lists provided by the supplier of the materials, and on the additional information by the Dutch coordinator of the Proyek Tik, especially what concerns the linguistic determination of the materials. I do not, of course, claim authorship of such information, as I am only the compiler of the present inventory, and claiming anything else would be preposterous. When text by others than myself is incorporated in the present inventory, I do not, of course, monopolize authorship of it. Whenever text by others is quoted, I have mentioned source and origin. On the other hand, I should not be too modest. The manufacture of the present list was done at my own personal initiative and is a the result of my own personal creativity. It took most of my stamina for a number of years.

Very few manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy. The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the project. However, I personally did unpack the parcels when they regularly arrived in the Library and I registered their content. When a manuscript was not inspected this can, generally speaking, be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively, inspected the manuscript itself, and its entry in the present inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark. For the manuscripts described in the present volume there was sometimes important information provided by the supplier of the material. These, and the material itself, form the basis of the information contained in the present volume.

The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s),[1] 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.

The present inventory is not a publication in the old-fashioned sense that it is an unchangeable monolith, just as the earlier catalogues are. Books of this sort need no longer be written in such a way. It is nothing more than a reflection of the state of research of today on the Oriental manuscripts which it contains. As an electronic book the inventory the information is kept up-to-date by updated versions. Since the inventory is published as an electronic book, it retains the powerful search possibilities which no work on paper has. For the moment this must suffice as a searching tool.
On the longer term I see the development of this inventory as follows. When all descriptions and entries are completed, and after a basic editorial activity on it has been performed, a search engine will be designed which will enable the user to quickly find an answer to his or her bibliographical queries, with all the advanced possibilities of an electronic tool. At that stage the by then electronic inventory and the search engine will be made available to the public, possibly in a constantly updated version in Ter Lugt Press' website, and/or by a regular update on CD-Rom, or on whatever medium is available and more suitable by that time. Obvious advantages of linking, imaging and the like, which are now still in development, will not be avoided. In addition, it is probable that such an electronic inventory will stimulate the publication of in-depth catalogues of part of the collections. The mass of bibliographical information which is herewith provided will, I hope, also give a stimulus to cataloguers ofr manuscript collections outside Leiden or the Netherlands.

The materials described in the present volume entered the Leiden Library between August 1994 and January 2002. At the same time, however, the regular acquisitions continued to arrive, and the reader of the other volumes of this inventory may see that there is some overlap in time between these two parallel streams of acquisitions.

I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or at the specific demand of these institutions. The very idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their format and structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said above about the method of compilation.

[1] In the present volume not all languages have been determined yet. Especially the question whether a text was written in the Javanese or in the Balinese language proved hard to answer.

A word of gratitude and appreciation may be said here to Dr. Hedi Hinzler, who some thirty years ago first made me acquainted with the vast wealth of Balinese manuscripts, which are the subject of the present volume. Her help during many years has given me the confidence to compile this inventory solely devoted to production of the Balinese Typing Project.
